Judge Schinz Orders
Delay at Request
Of State

Milwaukee—(7)—Three officers of B. E. Buckman and Company, defunct Madison investment firm, in a surprise move today pleaded nolo contendere to 23 counts of violating the state securities law.

Their pleas, by which they did not admit guilt but subjected themselves to penalty, left them liable to sentence of one to five years or fines of $5,000, or both, on each count.

The defendants — B. E. Buckman, president of the firm; Louis C. George, vice president, and E. C. Holt, secretary-treasurer — were charged with selling unregistered securities.

Circuit Judge Walter Schinz accepted the pleas, and at the state's request adjourned the case to 2 o'clock p. m. next Monday.

Special Prosecutor Bruno V. Bitker, Milwaukee, told the court he wanted to present the testimony of several witnesses and make a statement on "the knowledge of the defendants that they were committing a crime."

Wheeled into Room
Buckman again was wheeled into the courtroom today on a stretcher because of a hip injury.

A moment after court reconvened, as testimony in the case was scheduled to start, the defense and prosecuting attorneys went with Judge Schinz into the court's chambers for a 15-minute conference. Then the prosecutors, including Attorney General O. S. Loomis, conferred alone for an hour, before court resumed and the pleas were presented.

The three Buckman officers yesterday entered formal pleas of innocence, which were withdrawn today.

Fourteen of the counts listed sales of Condor Pictures, Inc., stock; six listed sales of General Carpet Corp. stock, and three listed sale of Automatic Products Corp. stock. All these issues, the state charged, were not registered in the state as required by law.

2,400 Exhibits
Attorneys had spent all yesterday afternoon marking 2,400 exhibits, records and documents of the Buckman company—gathered in the months of investigation since the firm collapsed last November.

A lengthy trial had been anticipated and the state subpoenaed more than 50 witnesses.

Bitter told Judge Schinz in his opening statement yesterday that the defendants organized a "dummy" corporation — Wells-Kendall company — "through which they sold unregistered stock in violation of the securities law."

"Ingenious Scheme"
He said the defendants were officers of both Wells-Kendall and the Buckman company, and in "an ingenious scheme to give the appearance of legitimacy of the stock sales as a brokerage transaction, the Buckman firm passed ownership to Wells-Kendall, then to a Chicago brokerage firm, which then disposed of the stock to the Buckman company for sale to the public."

Defense Attorney Carl N. Hill of Madison, declared "these officers of the Buckman firm always sought the advice of the (state public service) commission regarding their transactions, but they never got any satisfaction. They followed the common practices of brokerage firms in Wisconsin. They did so at the advice of lawyers they paid $10,000 a year, and were assured their acts all were within the law."

His session last night was devoted to the identification of more than 2,400 exhibits offered by the state.

Red, White and Blue-Bloods

Blood test before marriage, now law in New York State, should be so in every state, with results published in technical. Then we run-of-the-mill citizens could see for ourselves whether the European princes, dukes and counts still on the market really have natural blue blood or whether it's merely artificially colored. Vegetable colors, of course harmless. But hardly worth the current minimum of fifty million dollars per ceremony. Results should be illustrated where they'll have reader-interest, to wit: The Post-Crescent classified want-ads. This one finished nicely:

Two Medical Experts Say Duncan Is Ill

Testify He Is Suffering Hardening of Arter-

DESCRIBE FINDINGS

Condition 'Not Aftermath
Of Alcoholism,' Dr.
Lorenz States

Milwaukee—(7)—Two University of Wisconsin medical experts testified today that Thomas M. Duncan's manslaughter today that he suffers hardening of arteries in the brain.

With this testimony, defense counsel sought to show Governor LaFollette's executive secretary was ill rather than drunk the night of March 9, when the state charges he killed Henry F. Schuette in a hit-and-run accident.

The diagnoses came from Dr. William F. Lorenz, director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute, a department of the university, and Dr. William J. Bleckwenn, who is associated with Dr. Lorenz.

Both said they reached their conclusions after examining Duncan at the Madison General hospital during the month he was under treatment following the Schuette incident.

Judge Asks Question
Joseph Brazy and Benjamin Poss, defense lawyers, repeatedly tried to elicit answers that the doctors were of the opinion the illness was the cause of the accident, but the prosecution fought off every effort.

Finally, Circuit Judge G. N. Risjord, hearing the case in municipal court without jury, asked: "Was the condition in which you

Iowa Treasurer Cheers Hopkins Support to Wearin

Des Moines—(7)—Iowa Treasurer Leo J. Wegman touched off a statehouse battle here today by releasing what he said was the "substance" of a telegram to Harry W. Hopkins commending the WPA chief for endorsing Otha D. Wearin in the Iowa Democratic senatorial primary conflict.

"Stand by your guns and more power to you," the telegram said. It was dated last Thursday, May 26, the day after Governor Nelson K. Kraschel had expressed in a telegram his resentment at Hopkins' statement favoring Wearin.

The dispute in the state official family served to heighten the final week's primary battle in which Wearin and three others are opposing Senator Guy M. Gillette's bid for renomination. The race has attracted national attention because of Hopkins' statement and subsequent repercussions from Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) and others on the senate floor.

Governor Kraschel is regarded as a Gillette supporter, although he has made no statement on the candidates in the race for several months.

Find Communists Aim to Paralyze U. S. During War

Special Commission Says
Red Party Seeks Control of Labor

Boston—(7)—A charge that the Communist party aims to control transport and labor "so that it could paralyze the country in event of war," was made today by a special legislative commission after eight months' study of "subversive" activities in Massachusetts.

The report declared "there is every indication that the National Maritime union along the Atlantic coast and in the ports of Massachusetts is controlled by the Communists."

Asserting that it was one of the objectives of the Communist party to control all water fronts, the commission said:

Could Paralyze U. S.
"Such control of transport, coupled with control of industrial labor would enable the Communist party to paralyze the country should we be engaged in war with any other nation."

"The Communist party could thus much more easily carry out its avowed purpose to turn any war into a civil war."

"There has been evidence," the commission said, "that the leadership of the American Federation of Labor has directed its efforts to keeping Communists from membership in its unions and with few exceptions has succeeded."

"It appears from evidence before the commission that this has not been the policy of the Committee for Industrial Organization, but that the Communist membership has been welcomed in the CIO, and training and experience of Communist trade unionists and organizers have been utilized in the huge campaigns of industrial unionization."

Cedillo Revolt Apparently Ends

Sister of Rebel Leader Reported Negotiating for His Surrender

Mexico City—(7)—The Mexican government apparently has written this to the result of Saturday Cedillo which broke out May 20 in San Luis Potosi state.

Dispatches from San Luis said Cedillo's sister had visited President Lazaro Cardenas in an attempt to arrange a surrender of the agrarian overlord.

The pursuit of Cedillo, still at large, was described as an operation for military police.

President Cardenas was quoted as saying in an address at Matamoros in the northern part of the state, "let us leave the sick man (Cedillo) to his flight through the hills."

Leaving his headquarters at San Luis Potosi where he directed the fight against Cedillo, President Cardenas yesterday visited Charcas, Vanegas, Matheuala, and Estacion Catore. He received ovations and ordered elections at Vanegas and Matheuala to replace ousted Cedillista town officials.

Johnstown Mayor and Councilman Accused of Bribery, Malfeasance

Johnstown, Pa.—(7)—Mayor Daniel J. Shields and Councilman Fulton I. Connor faced charges of bribery, extortion and malfeasance in office today in connection with the financing of a special "law and order" force during last summer's "little steel" strike here.

CIO officials termed members of the force "vigilantes" in testimony before a national labor relations board examiner.

The information filed by County Detective John F. Carroll last night before Alderman J. Alvin Reese claimed Shields received $36,449.50 which had been donated by the Bethlehem Steel company.

Board to Ask New Paving on College Avenue

From Chemical

ACTION UNANIMOUS

Will Present Resolution To Council for Confirmation

Charles A. Green and Son, Inc., will be instructed to replace all the black top pavement on College avenue and two blocks on Washington street if the council approves the resolution unanimously adopted yesterday afternoon by the board of public works. The Green company laid the pavements last fall.

The board's decision was based on the reports from Walter H. Flood, Chicago chemical engineer, and W. H. Skidmore of the Chicago Testing Laboratories, engaged by the city to make analyses of the paving materials.

What to do about the failure of the avenue and Washington street pavements has occupied the board of public works for the last several months and the problem was thoroughly thrashed out before yesterday's decision was reached. The decision will be presented to the council for confirmation at 7:30 tonight.

In his report to the board, Flood said "the only way to secure a lasting and satisfactory pavement on College avenue is to remove the present surfacing material and re-build it anew."

Skidmore recommended that wherever a ravelling of the wearing surface has occurred the ravelled surface should be removed to the binder course and replaced with new material properly laid.

Both chemists found a large quantity of uncoated materials in the pavement, but Skidmore was unable to find the light oil solvent which Flood said was present in the samples he tested.

Flood's inspection of the material mixing plant revealed that it failed to meet contract specifications which required either a dryer-cooler, or a storage bin of sufficient capacity to hold a day's run of aggregate. He contended that this fact was the most important cause for failure of the pavement.

In many respects, Skidmore's report coincided with Flood's, but Skidmore suggested that the pavement could be repaired by patching and that complete removal of the black top is not necessary. However, he also said in his report, that he did not consider resurfacing over badly ravelled areas with new topping would be adequate or reliable restitution.

Harold F. McCormick And Nurse, 34, are Wed

Pasadena, Calif.—(7)—Harold Fowler McCormick, 66-year-old convalescent millionaire, and his 34-year-old nurse, the former Adah Wilson, began a stay-at-home honeymoon today in the guarded estate of his sister.

Sixty watchmen patrolled the grounds last night to enforce the strictest privacy for McCormick's third wedding.

In the lavish drawing room of the mansion, invisible from the street, Dr. James W. Fielding, Jr., of the First Congregational church of Los Angeles, read the marriage vows.

Sole witnesses were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wilson of Shoshone, Idaho, and McCormick's two physicians, McCormick said his sister, Virginia, was ill at Santa Monica and unable to attend.

Once wed to the late Edith Rockefeller, by whom he had four children, and to Madame Ganna Walska, Polish singer, McCormick met Miss Wilson at a Pasadena musical when she was nurse to the late Jean Harlow.

1,600 Employees Return To Jobs at Seaman Plant

Milwaukee—(7)—Company officials of the Seaman Body corporation announced today the return to work of 1,600 employees in the Milwaukee plant following settlement of a controversy with the local union of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) last week.

Officials of Nash-Kelvinator announced that 2,500 more workers at Racine and Kenosha would return to their jobs next Tuesday. The Racine and Kenosha plants are dependent on the Seaman Body corporation for parts.

Both men said that in their opinion the reservoir would serve a public need.

Tennant, describing the conditions of the Wisconsin and Fox rivers at Portage, where levees have been built to hold the Wisconsin's waters, declared that impounding of the Wisconsin's waters would remove some of the flood threat at Portage.

Valencia Goal of Insurgent Forces In Spanish Strife

Fighting With Government Troops

Hendaye, French, at the Spanish Frontier—(7)—Insurgents scaled precipitous mountains on the front east of Teruel today, fighting hand-to-hand with government militiamen in a general offensive aimed at the capture of Valencia.

On land and in the air, the fighting in this new drive by General Francisco Franco's army assumed proportions equal in severity to any in the nearly two-year-old civil war.

His warplanes pounded cities and concentrations on the eastern coast while the full power of his infantry, cavalry, and artillery slowly dislodged government troops from their bustling positions north of the highway that reaches from Teruel to Sagunto and Valencia.

Reports reaching the frontier said the death toll from yesterday's insurgent bombing at Granollers, 16 miles north of Barcelona, would reach more than 500. Many other hundreds were injured.

Huge heaps of stone and rubbish on the main street of the town of 9,000 marked the scene of slaughter. Buildings still standing were pitted with steel fragments. One building was split in two.

Similar Raids
This terrible foray, crashing death among long queues of women and children waiting in the market place for potato rations, was only one of many such raids yesterday.

Sagunto, most-bombed town in eastern Spain, again was visited. The British ship Pentham was sunk and a Spanish vessel damaged in Valencia harbor by bombs. This brought to five the ships sunk or set afire at Valencia within a week, but the harbor remained the busiest in government Spain with 14 foreign vessels in port.

Aluminum Suit on In Federal Court Anti-Trust Action Expec- ed to Last at Least Half Year

New York—(7)—Trial of the government's anti-trust suit against the Aluminum Company of America and 62 co-defendants—an action expected by counsel to last at least six and a half months—started today in federal court.

The government seeks to dismember an alleged combination in restraint of trade. It is one of the biggest suits of its kind in many years.

At the counsel table with Walter L. Rice, special assistant to the attorney general, sat Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, who had come from Washington to take part in the prosecution.

For the defense sat 16 lawyers, among them William Watson Smith of Pittsburgh and Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., son of the chief justice.

Two men named in the action, former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Albert K. Laurie, long associated with Mellon in the aluminum business, now are dead.

When the government drew up its complaint in 1937, it estimated the Aluminum company through itself and its subsidiaries controlled assets worth $800,000,000.

Two State Engineers For Reservoir Project

Wisconsin Rapids—(7)—Testimony of two state engineers, M. W. Torkelson, secretary of the state planning board, and H. V. Tennant, members of the Levee commission, was given at the public service commission hearing here late yesterday favoring construction of a 40,000 acre reservoir on the Little Eau Pleine river in Marathon county.

Both men said that in their opinion the reservoir would serve a public need.

Tennant, describing the conditions of the Wisconsin and Fox rivers at Portage, where levees have been built to hold the Wisconsin's waters, declared that impounding of the Wisconsin's waters would remove some of the flood threat at Portage.

3 States to Confer on Forest Rehabilitation

Washington—(7)—Representative Luecke (D-Mich.) announced last night he would attend a meeting of representatives of Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota at Madison Thursday and Friday to discuss a program for rehabilitation of the Great Lakes cut-over forest area.

The conference is an outgrowth of Luecke's request to President Roosevelt for such a program.

Restore American Properties, U. S. Demands of Japan

Strong Note to Tokio Government

Washington—(7)—The United States demanded today that Japan "take immediate steps" to restore American properties in China "to their rightful owners."

In a strong note presented by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew to Japanese Foreign Minister Ugaki, the Japanese were told that their "infringement of and interference with American rights in China" was "giving the government of the United States increasing concern."

It was pointed out that while Japanese civilians have been permitted to enter and do business in areas from which the Sino-Jap conflict has moved on American business men and missionaries have been denied permission not only to resume their former residences but even to visit their holdings.

300 Await Permission
State department officials estimated that more than 300 Americans have been waiting in Shanghai for many months to get permission to return to their properties in the Yangtze valley, including Nanking.

The note said that "the problem of enabling American citizens in China to work and repossess their properties from which they have been excluded by the Japanese military and of which the

Former Instructor in Appeal to High Court

Superior—(7)—J. C. Peters, former instructor at Superior Central high school, said today he had appealed to the state supreme court against the decision of Circuit Judge W. R. Foley, denying him reinstatement under the teacher's tenure act.

Attorney General Orland Loomis previously had held an opinion that Peters was privileged to resume teaching. The teacher obtained leave of absence several years ago while his wife continued teaching. Before Peters sought reinstatement, the school board voted to forbid a man and wife teaching simultaneously in Superior.

Criminal Calendar of U. S. Court Is Adjourned

Milwaukee—(7)—Federal Judge F. A. Geiger today adjourned the criminal calendar of his court, including the case of Nick Abosketes and 11 other persons charged with participating in a huge illegal liquor syndicate, until June 8.

The court is hearing a patent infringement case.

Judge Geiger also deferred sentencing Michael Shapiro, former operator of a liquor company here, and his nephew, Aaron Shapiro, Milwaukee attorney, who were convicted last week of conspiracy to conceal assets of their bankrupt firm.

Highways in Eau Claire Area Closed by Washouts

Eau Claire—(7)—Extensive damage to highways was caused by washouts in this vicinity last night. A total of 3.77 inches of rain fell at Eau Claire, while at Wisconsin, 15 miles north of here rainfall was 4.32 inches.

The division engineers office of the Wisconsin Highway commission here reported Highway 10, west of Durand, Highway 25, south of that city, Highway 64 west of Highway 53 in Chippewa county and Highway 27 north of Cadott have been closed due to bad washouts and traffic is being detoured around these points.

Unemployment Has 'Grown Worse,' He Says in Letter

NEED FLEXIBILITY

Followers Think Statement Will Help Assure Passage

Washington—(7)—President Roosevelt personally intervened today in the fight over earmarking proposed new federal public works funds with a warning that unemployment has grown more acute in recent weeks and that a flexible relief program is essential to check it.

The chief executive expressed his views in a letter to Senator Adams (D-Colo.), floor manager for the administration's $3,247,000,000 spending-lending bill now being debated.

His action was quickly interpreted by administration senators as greatly strengthening their stand against demands of Republicans and conservative Democrats that the funds be earmarked by assigning them for use on specified projects.

Senator Tydings (D-Md.), predicted that unless recent trends of business and government were altered the inevitable result would be "to subject the people of this nation to a darker and even graver depression than any which we have yet passed through since 1929."

Tydings told the senate he had "fought consistently" for the "pay as we go" plan of Senator LaFollette (P-Wis.).

Three Alternatives
"Sooner, or later, we must face one of three roads: crushing taxation, inflation or repudiation," he said.

Quoting from commerce department data, Tydings said business had "paid out" a total of more than $23,000,000,000 in excess of income during the seven years 1929 through 1935. At the same time the government contributed $16,500,000,000 more than revenue, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote Adams that unemployment has "grown worse" since he sent his relief message to congress six weeks ago.

"Emergency employment, therefore should come right away instead of being deferred," the president said, adding:

"It is the gap existing now that we want to fill. Therefore, I greatly hope that the emergency appropriation bill in its final form will put no restrictions on the immediate starting of works projects, and that it will make possible the selection of those projects which can be got under way speedily."

Meanwhile "little business" gained assurance in the other big issue before congress—wages and hours—that Senate conferees would fight for elastic standards in order to protect its interests.

Senators Thomas (D-Utah), Walsh (D-Mass.), and Pepper (D-Fla.) said many small merchants and manufacturers had declared they could not continue to operate if they had to provide the same minimum wages and maximum hours as larger firms.

The three senators are among members of a joint committee which will begin tomorrow to draft compromise wage-hour legislation. The major issue is whether nationally uniform standards shall be ordered.

Walsh, pointing out that 68 per cent of the nation's business firms employ less than 20 persons, said any compromise bill should consider the ability of an employer to adjust himself to its provisions over a period of months or years.

Thomas, chairman of the senate labor committee, urged that a board

Union, 76 Persons Facing U. S. Trial On Racket Charges

New York—(7)—John Harlan Amen, ex-federal racketeer prosecutor, today planned an early trial of a labor union and 76 persons charged with extorting $1,000,000 or more annually from the eastern seaboard shippers and truckers.

Under his direction, a special grand jury yesterday returned two indictments naming Local 807 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Steamfitters and helpers of America, 8 of its officers, 62 of its members and 6 other men.

One indictment covering four counts charged violation of the 1934 act making racketeering a felony and the other charged, in one count, violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

If convicted, the defendants would face maximum sentences of 41 years imprisonment and fines of $50,000 each under the two indictments.

The grand jury charged the defendants, employing gangsters and threatening their victims with violence, forced trucks coming into New York to take on local drivers at $9.42 each plus overtime, whether or not the drivers were needed or used.

New American Waterway Plan Facing Attacks

Hull Submits Revised Treaty to Canadian Government

Washington—(AP)—A new American proposal for developing the St. Lawrence waterway encountered opposition today from many of the senators who blocked the $500,000,000 project four years ago.

Secretary Hull submitted to Canada last night a revised treaty by which the two nations would construct a huge hydro-electric power project and a 27-foot channel to let seagoing vessels reach the Great Lakes basin.

The proposal differs in one major point from the treaty rejected by the senate in 1934: the United States would proceed with her share of the work at once, but Canada could wait until Dec. 31, 1949, when her power needs are greater.

The American offer to finance construction by Canada of a waterway around International rapids drew immediate fire from Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.). He approved, however, Hull's suggestion that the United States build a hydro-electric project at the rapids to supply 1,100,000 horsepower in cheap current each year for American consumers.

Opposed by Copeland

Senator Copeland (D-N. Y.), the other senator from President Roosevelt's home state, announced he was against the seaway project "1,000 per cent." He called it "an all-British canal."

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) pointed out that the treaty would permit diversion of only 1,500 cubic feet of water a second into the Chicago drainage canal. He said the Mississippi river must receive more water than that from the canal in order to fill a proposed 9-foot channel.

Even Senator Pittman (D-Ind.), who worked for acceptance of the 1934 treaty, predicted the new offer would be bitterly debated. He said it might have a chance for passage if modified to meet some of the objections raised in the senate.

Senator Clark saw no such possibility, however.

"The senators who are interested in the development of the Mississippi are never going to agree to let a commission fix the amount of water that can be diverted," he said.

See New Cities

Administration officials said the combination of cheap power and the possibility of receiving raw materials by water would lead to the founding of new cities on both the American and Canadian sides of the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes.

The United States' share of the cost would be about $250,000,000. The treaty, as outlined by Secretary Hull, includes seven main features. It would:

1. Enable the United States to "go forward immediately with the International rapids section link in the proposed St. Lawrence deep waterway and the incidental power development."
2. Defray Canada's share of work (until 1949 if necessary) until her power needs warranted.
3. Set up an international commission for the whole Great Lakes-St. Lawrence basin.
4. Distribute the waters of Niagara river so as to insure unbroken crestlines on both the American and Canadian falls and preserve their beauty.
5. Permit Ontario to divert waters from the Albany river basin into the Great Lakes and utilize the additional water for power at Niagara.
6. Make considerable additional Niagara power available to each country.
7. Enable the international commission to prepare comprehensive plans for more efficient use of the resources of the Niagara river.

Baptists Hear Plea For United Front to Fight Against Evil

Milwaukee—(AP)—A united religious front against the forces of evil was urged last night by ministers addressing the closing session of the Northern Baptist convention.

The Rev. Samuel M. Ortega, Los Angeles, told the delegates "we must establish a world religion" to preserve modern civilization from what he described as virtual disintegration.

A world religion, he declared, unquestionably implies a world brotherhood with each individual doing his part. "Secondly, we must develop a world state with Christ as king. We must build a kingdom in which the only law is the Golden rule, in which men will be governed by love rather than lust," he said.

The Rev. E. A. Fridell, professor of practical theology at Berkeley (Calif.) Baptist Divinity school, asserted "there must not be continuing competition in our religion when there is increasing cooperation in the ranks of sin. When evil presents a united front, the forces of the Lord must not be guilty of dividing statesmanship."

The Rev. C. L. Seasholes, Dayton, Ohio, said "our unity movement must aim at religious fellowship of all church groups, cooperation and federation, but not corporate union necessarily. There will remain freedom of ecclesiastical thought but identical objectives."

Roosevelt Asks Flexibility for Relief Program where rigid standards would bring unemployment.

The senate bill provides for such a board, but the house measure fixes scales of pay and hours which would apply alike to virtually all industries and to all sections of the country.

Nothing that the senate-house committee has wide powers to rewrite the legislation, Senator Pepper said he thought it should be broadened "to provide some stimulation for small businesses in remote sections of the country."

Forecast Long Struggle

From Representative Ramspeck (D-Ga.), another conferee, came a prediction that the house group, if faced with the alternative of accepting a bill with wage differentials or no bill at all, would choose the former.

Although some committeemen forecast a long struggle over the measure, administration leaders said that yesterday's decision to abandon the government reorganization bill until next year virtually assured adjournment by June 10.

Senate chiefclerks hope to pass by tomorrow night the $2,247,000,000 relief and public works bill—the only major legislation besides the wage-hour bill still on the calendar. The senate was called into session at 11 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time), an hour earlier than usual, to hasten a vote.

Turns Down Suggestion

"There isn't any real disposition to hack the bill to pieces," commented Senator Adams (D-Colo.), floor manager of the administration measure.

The senate voted yesterday to make $50,000,000 of PWA funds available for doles should an emergency arise. It turned down a suggestion by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that $150,000,000 be set aside from work-relief funds for direct relief payments.

One of the biggest fights remaining centered on a committee amendment to restrict use of PWA funds for constructing utility systems which would compete with privately-owned plants. Senator Norris (Ind-Neb.) so-called "father" of the TVA, was leading an attempt to eliminate the restriction.

Effort to Unseat Ekern Is Real Political Drama

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—A dramatic episode of Wisconsin's dramatic politics was enacted Tuesday in the cool, somber chambers of the Wisconsin supreme court, the highest tribunal of the commonwealth of Wisconsin.

There with profound, scholarly arguments was fought out the question of whether a quiet, distinguished elderly man has a right to the position of the second citizen of the state, a position to which Wisconsin's first citizen, Governor LaFollette, recently appointed him.

There was a couple of opposition lawyers, representing a single taxpayer, pitted themselves against the best legal talent available to the LaFollette state administration and the bold, young and powerful Progressive party which in the last three years has filled almost every important state office with its leaders and members.

It was a partisan fight, although the listeners in the beautiful, vaulted supreme court hearing room would not have known it from the tone of the intricate flow of juridical disputation offered to the seven black-robed members of the court.

The deep interest which the contest over the appointment of Herman L. Ekern to the lieutenant governorship of Wisconsin has elicited was shown by the number of capitol luminaries in the court chamber. It could also be concluded from the obvious interest of the justices, who shot questions at the opposing lawyers every few minutes.

Off in a corner, listening attentively, was the subject of the long debate, Mr. Ekern, as distinguished an advocate as any of those appearing before the court, and for 40 years a figure of importance in the councils of the LaFollette movement in Wisconsin. After being out of the public eye for more than a decade, since his campaign for the governorship in 1926, Ekern today finds himself a universal subject for discussion in state politics and the performer of the leading role in one of the most important politico-legal battles in Wisconsin for a score of years.

Today the justices of the high court are sequestered in their chambers, pondering their verdict in a case which they have indicated will be settled before they close their annual calendar next month.

Wedding Party Is Held in Mudslide During Heavy Rain

Durand, Wis.—(AP)—The county highway department was needed last night to extricate a wedding party from a mudslide which nearly submerged their automobile on Highway 23 near here as a three-hour cloudburst loosened a hillside.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Paast of Durand, the newly-wedded couple, and their attendants, Delbert King, brother of the bride, and Mrs. Lyman Kleven, were trapped in the machine which narrowly missed being swept away by a torrent of water that tumbled boulders down the hill upon the road.

Parochial School Graduations Lead Church Activities

Commencement Exercises Scheduled for Tonight, Friday and Sunday

Parochial school graduation exercises are claiming the attention of Appleton churches this week, the exercises being scheduled for tonight, Friday and Sunday. Those which will be held Friday are St. Joseph, Sacred Heart, St. Therese and St. Matthew Lutheran and St. Paul Lutheran church. St. Mary will have its graduation Sunday. Today is graduation day for pupils of Zion parish school.

The Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor of First Baptist church, will return home this evening from Milwaukee after attending the Northern Baptist convention since last Thursday. The state convention of the Baptist association was held today. In the absence of the pastor from the pulpit last Sunday, Dr. John W. Wilson, pastor-at-large for Congregational churches in Wisconsin, preached.

The Rev. I. E. Schlagenhauf, district superintendent of Appleton district of the Methodist church, is in Milwaukee today to attend meeting of the conference board of education and also of the committee to plan the annual conference to be held in Waukegan in September. He will conduct the fourth quarterly conference of the Manawa church Friday night.

The Ambassador quintet of Central Bible Institute of Springfield, Mo., will take charge of a special service and provide music at 7:45 Friday night at The Gospel temple. There will be trombone and brass trios, vocal trio, brass quartet and accordion, saw, violin and piano sections.

Summer Schedule

Beginning tomorrow Sunday Mt. Olive Lutheran church will adopt its summer schedule of services which will remain in force until the Sunday after Labor day. Bible school will take place at 8 o'clock and divine service at 9:15. The church board of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will meet at 7:30 tonight. The board of trustees of St. Paul Lutheran church will meet at 7:30 this evening and Ladies Aid society will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Homebuilders of Memorial Presbyterian church will have a picnic Saturday under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thompson, co-chairmen.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. The following passage is taken from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The nation that both evil and good are real is a delusion of material sense, which science annihilates. Evil is nothing, no thing, mind or power. As manifested by mankind it stands for a lie, nothing claiming to be something—for lust, dishonesty, selfishness, envy, hypocrisy, slander, hate, theft, adultery, murder, dementia, insanity, devil, hell, with all the ecceteras that word includes. Truth bruises the head of error—destroys error. Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation for God governs all that is real, harmonious and eternal and His power is neither animal nor human. Life and being are of God."

Reorganization to Be Issue at Next Term of Congress

Controversy Also Likely to Come Up in November Elections

Washington—(AP)—Government reorganization became an issue today for the next congress—and possibly for the November elections.

Congressional leaders, with the approval of President Roosevelt, formally abandoned for this session the legislation which had aroused nationwide controversy and resulted in a major defeat for the administration.

A statement issued last yesterday by Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.) and Representative Warren (D-N. C.), chairmen of the senate and house reorganization committees, said some form of a reorganization bill would be placed before the new 1939 congress.

"It is our opinion that the American people overwhelmingly desire some kind of effective reorganization of our government in the interest of greater efficiency and practical economy," their statement added.

Some legislators declared, however, that the people clearly did not want reorganization legislation in the form recently considered by congress and that the voters might show their opposition at the polls.

They recalled the flood of telegrams and letters criticizing the bill, which was passed by the senate but sidetracked in the house.

Midnight Statement

A question that puzzled many congressmen was whether both the administration and its foes would try to make political capital of the fact that house leaders had said rejection of the legislation in April proclaimed a lack of confidence in the president.

House debate had been dotted with references to dictatorship, although Mr. Roosevelt himself, in an unusual midnight statement, had disclaimed any qualifications or indications to be a dictator.

The announcement of Byrnes and Warren that "no further effort will be made to pass the reorganization bill at this session" was regarded by the senate yesterday. Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) immediately predicted a renewal of the hot fight over the program next year.

He concurred in an 8 to 0 opinion approving an order by the agriculture department fixing maximum rates to be charged by the Denver Union Stockyards company.

In addition, he heard his associates consent to reconsider a recent feel that last night was the last chance for him to return alive."

The overall $10,000 ransom his brother now was willing for the posses to take to the fields since 24 hours had elapsed after he paid the $10,000 ransom with no word from the abductors.

The temper of the crowd, however, was to start searching regardless of whether the family and authorities were willing. Grizzled, sun-browned citrus growers and truck farmers with pistols on the hips and shotguns in their cars voiced grim threats against the men who snatched little "Skeegie" last Saturday night.

Nation's guardsmen, war veterans and 1,500 Boy Scouts were ready to join the farmers in the search. They were pessimistic about catching the kidnapers now but sought to find the youngest dead or alive.

Sparsely Settled

The territory to be searched was sparsely settled. East of the main highway, which runs north and south through Princeton, wide winter vegetable fields, weed-grown

The spot where the ransom was paid was east of the main highway that runs between Miami and Key West. Between the road and the shore of Biscayne bay a few miles away. The location led to speculation whether the kidnapers might have escaped in a small boat with the money.

If this was the procedure and if the blue-eyed youngster had not been killed it was thought likely he would have been set free somewhere in a countryside consisting of vast fields, where truck crops are grown for the winter markets.

Japanese military have been and in some cases still are in occupation is giving the government of the United States increasing concern.

"It is difficult," Japan was told, "to perceive any warrant for the continued placing by the Japanese authorities of obstacles in the way of return by Americans who have legitimate reason for proceeding to the areas in question."

The United States specifically demanded the return of the University of Chicago, to the Northern and Southern Baptist Missionary societies. The university has been occupied by Japanese military and naval units, the note said, since shortly after the outbreak of hostilities at Shanghai, August, 1937.

"Majority Looted"

The note asserted the university premises "have been used by the Japanese for quartering troops and for military offices."

"During the period of Japanese occupancy several buildings have been damaged and the majority looted," the note continued.

Japanese occupancy, it was charged, has continued for nine months, despite the fact that hostilities ceased long ago.

"In various places in the lower Yangtze valley," the United States said, "American businessmen and missionaries have been prevented by the Japanese authorities from returning to their places of business and mission stations and are denied even casual access to their properties."

The Japanese, the communication added, have refused permits on the ground that peace and order have not been sufficiently restored. However, it was pointed out, "Japanese civilians are freely permitted to go into and reside in such areas."

McReynolds, Not Black, Is Chief Dissenter in Nation's Supreme Court

Washington—(AP)—Justice Hugo L. Black has drawn frequent headlines for his dissenting opinions in the supreme court term just ended, but the title of the year's chief dissenter has been quietly won by Justice James C. McReynolds.

During the eight months' session which closed yesterday, Black entered dissents in 16 cases, in 12 of which he stood alone. McReynolds, however, dissented 28 times, including 5 solitary opinions.

Justice Pierce Butler also outranked Black with 21 dissents, in all of which he was joined by at least one associate—usually McReynolds. The two are the justices whom administration officials term conservative.

In contrast, Chief Justice Hughes went through the entire session without a dissent.

Ends First Term

Black ended his first term yesterday by disagreeing with his colleagues' refusal to reconsider their decision condemning Secretary Wallace's procedure in ordering lower charges by commission men at the Kansas City stockyards.

He concurred in an 8 to 0 opinion approving an order by the agriculture department fixing maximum rates to be charged by the Denver Union Stockyards company.

In addition, he heard his associates consent to reconsider a recent

No Man Should be Given Tax Money to Buy Votes

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Nobody can seriously object to a president's expression of a desire for senators and congressmen who will do as he orders. If the president is a man who, like Adolf Hitler, considers himself to be all-knowing, then he is only being consistent and, in a queer way, honest, when he asks for a purely nominal legislature, committed beforehand to every proposal which he may present. What he asks, in that case, is absolute personal power to pack the courts and influence the ballot by blanket appropriations of billions with which to buy votes.

If a president has that opinion of himself and that ambition, it is his right to address the voters through his stooges, or even directly under his own name, with an appeal that he be made supreme. Other dictators abolish legislatures entirely, but each to his own whim, and an American President-dictator might prefer to preserve the form. If he were 100 per cent successful in his appeal, however, the preservation of the form would represent a great unnecessary expense. Knowing that any White House bill would have the effect of a decree, he might, in the interests of economy, efficiency and speed, devise a blank check "aye" to be autographed by each member at the start of each session, and then send them all home and apply that indorsement to all his commands. Multiply Minton, of Indiana, and Pepper, of Florida, by a sufficient number and that would be the character of the United States congress.

It is idle to argue that a president does wrong to ask the people to give him such powers, disguising the appeal in the form of White House endorsement in support of individual candidates. He is within his right, but it is then up to the people to analyze his request and his motives, weigh the effects and decide whether they want to abandon their accustomed form of government, give up the struggle for their rights and yield to the will of one man, augmented, perhaps, by schemes purged in his ear by members of a secret political household, including some reckless and mischievous individuals with an ambition to become world-shakers.

Harry Hopkins Drops A Hint to Vote Right

There is legitimate objection, however, against the use of government money, the people's own money, to buy this power from them at the polls. This is the point that is purposely ignored in all the arguments in favor of President Roosevelt's interference in state politics. There were those who, in the beginning of the New Deal, were cynical enough to suggest that a president with billions at his disposal would not always hew to the line of human needs in spending that money, but would yield to the temptation to use it to buy further authority. That seemed utterly unthinkable then, for the people had religion at the time, and the country did not know Mr. Roosevelt very well. Nevertheless, this was predicted, and the predictions have been borne out.

Since then, success has become a political work, and Harry Hopkins, the greatest individual employer in the country, has dropped a hint to the dependent voters of Iowa, which may be interpreted as an admonition to vote right. A similar hint from Henry Ford to his employees would be considered outrageous, and might cause him to be yanked up. It is the sort of hint which has been denounced by

Pegler

New Dealers as vicious arrogance in the case of private employers except that in this case the warning amounts to a vote-buying proposition very thinly disguised. Senators and congressmen who do not obey the president's decrees will be fought by a campaign fund taken out of the public treasury. That is what all the shouting is for. It isn't that a president must keep a still tongue in his head and pretend to be impartial in state elections. But no man ever should have been given such vote-buying power and the power should never be placed in any man's hands again.

That money can never buy the people anything one-half so precious as what they are asked to sell.

New Quarters at County Asylum are Now in Use

With the exception of some equipment for the dining room, new quarters provided for the Outagamie county asylum in the building of a $100,000 addition have been equipped and are in use, according to Thomas Flanagan, superintendent. The addition includes living quarters for the Flanagan family and women employees, offices, reception room, dining room, two large wards, hospital rooms for men and women, quarters for the doctor and dentist, recreation room and storerooms.

The project was begun a year ago and the principal work was completed earlier this year.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat hearty, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or over-poorly your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.
Doctors say there is a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes these little black tablets called Bell-anas for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Better! So quick it is amazing and one package proves it. Ask for Bell-anas for indigestion.

Drive Against Traffic Crashes Shows Results

The intensive drive against traffic accidents this year apparently is giving some results. Over the Memorial day weekend only four accidents resulting in injury to one person were reported in the Appleton area as compared to the Memorial day weekend a year ago when there were seven accidents causing injuries to eleven persons and the death of another. The 1936 Memorial day weekend saw three accidents with four hurt in Appleton and surrounding territory.

YIELDS $5,500 GOLD
San Jose, Calif. (AP)—Olin M. Hayes is still a junk dealer, but he's now working in an entirely different way.

Familiar with the practice of miners, who pile up scrap metal from the mines, he bought up the junk piles of several old mines. Then he loaded them into a concrete mixer, ground off all the rust and panned the latter for gold.

He says that in four months of hard work he has recovered bullion worth $5,500.

Trinity English Lutheran Congregation Among Youngest in City but Boasts $75,000 Structure

Editor's Note: This is the fourteenth of a series of stories on the history of Appleton churches from their organization to the present.

BY VIOLA HELLERMANN
One of Appleton's newer Lutheran congregations is Trinity English Lutheran, whose attractive $75,000 combination church and parsonage stands at the corner of E. Kimball and S. Allen streets. It had its origin in an English Lutheran service conducted by the Rev. A. J. Sommers of St. Paul English Lutheran church, Neenah, on Dec. 13, 1914, at the request of a small Appleton group.

Formal organization of the congregation as a member of the Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church of America, largest Lutheran organization in the country, took place Feb. 7, 1915, in Odd Fellow hall. Twelve prospective members attended the first service, held in Eagles hall. The only remaining charter members in the congregation today are Mrs. Edward Wuthuhn and Herman Schroeder.

Before the arrival of the first pastor, Bernard J. Stecker, a student at Lawrence college, was active leader of the congregation, serving from 1915 to 1917. By the end of 1916 the original group had grown to 55 confirmed and communicant members.

On Nov. 27, 1916, the property at the southwest corner of N. Oneida and W. Harris streets, where the Appleton Woman's club now stands was purchased, and on Dec. 2, 1916, ground was broken for the erection of a chapel. The cornerstone was laid April 29, 1917, the chapel was dedicated Aug. 12 of that year and the Rev. F. L. Schreckenberg of Wapakoneta, Ohio, was called as the first regular pastor.

During the 12-year pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Schreckenberg, who served from Nov. 9, 1917, to Nov. 1, 1929, the present location was purchased and the new church erected. The old chapel and the parsonage were sold to the Appleton Woman's club.

The present pastor, the Rev. D. E. Bosserman, took over the leadership of the church Dec. 15, 1929, after having served for 14 years at Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, St. Paul, Minn. On June 12 of this year the congregation will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the ministry and also his and Mrs. Bosserman's silver wedding anniversary.

Today the parish has a membership of approximately 420 communicant members and 600 baptized members.

President of the church council is the Rev. D. E. Bosserman, Harry Cameron is vice president; Alvin R. Greunke, recording secretary; John F. Geer, stewardship and financial secretary; Otto Tilly, trustee and treasurer; George E. Johnson and Harlow Wickert, trustees and deacons.

Short Memorial Rites Held at Little Chute

Little Chute—Members of the Jacob Cippus post of the American Legion sponsored a short Memorial day program to honor their departed comrades and all veterans of former wars Monday evening. All members of the post and its auxiliary assembled at the legion hall at 8:30 from where the line of march started headed by the members of the Little Chute Community band and proceeded to St. John cemetery where appropriate services were held. Addresses were given by the Very Rev. John J. Sprangers and the Rev. Robert Klein and a song was sung by the members of the post. The firing squad saluted the dead with three volleys, the bugler sounded taps and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." After this program the legion, auxiliary and band members were entertained at the legion hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Hana-graf will leave Thursday for Rockford, Ill., where they will attend the funeral of a relative Friday morning. The members of the choir of St.

John church will hold a rehearsal at the church at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George La Rue of Larsen spent Sunday and Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Xavier La Rue, Wilson street.

Hybrid Corn Holds 1938 Crop Spotlight in County

BY ROBERT SILVERWOOD
With corn planting in swing throughout the county it is interesting to note that hybrid corn again holds the crop spotlight for the year.
One grower of hybrid seed near Seymour reports his demand far exceeds his supply—this in spite of vast increases in hybrid seed production. In 1935 there were but 300 acres of seed produced while last year the figure had grown to 2,400 acres in Wisconsin. This year the acreage will be even larger. There are 200 growers in the state producing the seed under supervision of the College of Agriculture at Madison.
The last few years of drought and general unfavorable growing conditions have focused attention on hybrid corn. A better root-system, plus an inbred hardiness, enables the hybrid to overcome drought and disease.

Egg Prices are Unlikely to Go Lower This Year

Season Decline Came Earlier Than Usual, Economists State

Egg prices are not likely to go lower this year.
That prediction, encouraging to farmers who have been selling eggs at low rates, has been made by Don Anderson and Irwin Hedges, economists at the College of Agriculture, in a bulletin to R. C. Swanson, county agent. The forecast is based in part upon the fact that as a rule the spring peak in egg production is reached about May 1.
Although anticipating but little improvement in prices during the rest of the spring season of heavy egg production, Anderson and Hedges believe that better prices are in prospect for the last half of the year. They even would not be surprised if prices at that time average higher than for the last half of 1937 in spite of a less favorable consumer demand.
Factors listed by the economists as pointing to improved egg prices during the last half of the year are prospects of smaller production and smaller cold storage holdings of eggs at that time. They remind Wisconsin poultry producers that egg production will likely be smaller because of the smaller sized laying flocks this year. Then it is said that because of the losses suffered on eggs stored last year, fewer eggs are going into storage this spring. It appears that storage holdings of eggs during the last half of 1938 will be considerably smaller than the record holdings of the last half of 1937.
The small storage demand for eggs tends to depress prices at the present by leaving more to be absorbed into immediate consumption channels but later on it will have the opposite effect of causing higher prices by making fewer eggs available during the season of small production.
The seasonal decline in egg prices this year came much earlier than usual, observe the economists. After the sharp drop during January and February, egg prices increased a fraction of a cent during March. A heavy rate of egg production, lower consumer demand and larger cold storage holdings of eggs accounted for the early drop in prices. Storage holdings of frozen eggs on April 1 were still excessively large for that date. The steady level of egg prices since early March may have been partly due to the egg buying program of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation. This program was started in early March in an effort to check further declines in egg prices.

State Organizes To Fight Weeds

Control Council Formed By State Agricultural College

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—Concerted action aimed at a unified state-wide program in seed and weed control is underway, state agricultural college officials reported today, with the creation of the Seed and Weed Council of Wisconsin.
The council will serve as a clearing house for information and suggestions for improvement in the production, distribution and use of farm seeds and in the control and eradication of weeds. O. S. Aamodt, head of the department of agronomy at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture is chairman, and E. D. Holden, secretary of the Wisconsin Experiment association, a state-wide organization of seed growers, was chosen secretary.
To direct the work of the council an executive committee of seven members has been formed, consisting of representatives of the state department of agriculture and markets, the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, the Wisconsin Seed Dealers association, and the council of officers as members ex-officio.
The council is described as an informal body to which anyone having seed and weed problems will be free to come for suggestions and aid, and one which will correlate the activities of 115 state-wide bodies interested directly and many farm groups interested indirectly in seed and weed problems.
One of the men active in its organization is William Knauf of Chilton, representing the Central Retail Feed association.
FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE
Scottsbluff, Neb.—(P)—Harvey Harward, pioneer Scottsbluff resident, was on the witness stand in a suit over water rights when his testimony concerning a financial "panic" in 1893 was questioned.
"Do you know of your own knowledge that there was a panic that year?" he was asked.
"Yes, sir," Harward answered. "I got a check at 11 o'clock one morning and the bank closed at 3 before I could cash it."

Enters Bull Calf In Club Project

Darrel Mueller Grooms 8-Month-Old Animal For 4-H Competition

Darrel Mueller, 13, member of Woodland Hustlers 4-H club, whose heifer calf won first prize at the state fair last year, has entered an 8-month-old bull calf in the special bull calf project sponsored by the county 4-H leaders, federation and breed organizations.
The bull calf was born Sept. 27, 1937 and is from the herd of his father, Hilmer Mueller. The dam of the calf has three yearly records, averaging 352.3 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, twice a day milking, mature equivalent. The sire of the calf has been exhibited at the state fair several times and last year headed the Outagamie show herd at the fair.
The Hustlers club was organized in 1934 with Frank Tubbs and Miss Caroline as leaders. At present the club has 25 members. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tubbs are the leaders and they are assisted by Miss Corinne Ottman, Woodland school teacher, and Harold Blanshan and Sylvia Ploeger, junior leaders.

Christensen and Jensen Herds Set High Milk Records

Set Pace in Two Waupaca County Associations During April

Waupaca—Herds owned by James Christensen, Lebanon, and J. P. Jensen and Son, Scandinavia, headed the list of highest producing herds in the two Waupaca county herd improvement associations during April, according to Ismar Jacobson and Walter Kirchner, testers. Christensen's herd averaged 1,414 pounds of milk or 49.4 pounds of butterfat in the South association, and Jensen's herd averaged 1,414 pounds of milk or 46.1 pounds of fat in the North association.

A cow owned by Floyd Gotham, Dayton, produced 1,539 pounds of milk containing 78.4 pounds of fat for the best record in the South association.

Other owners of high producing individuals in both associations with butterfat productions include: James Christensen, Lebanon, 74.4 and 61.5; Verne Hinchley, Weyauwega, 71.1, 66.1 and 58.5; George Peter, Jr., Caledonia, 70.1; William Kissing, Waupaca, 67.8; Carroll Ritchie, Royalton, 64.8; Martin Kuehl, Caledonia, 63.0 and 57.6; A. G. Neuman, Caledonia, 62.6 and 58.7; Alfred Pomeroy, Caledonia, 59.1 and Carl Borchardt, Fremont, 57.

Wolberg Bros., Iola, 65.2; John Montgomery, Farmington, 60.1; A. E. Smith, Waupaca, 58.9; Hugh Johnson, Farmington, 58.6, 58.3 and 57.3; Colrupe Bros., St. Lawrence, 57.0; J. P. Jensen and Son, Scandinavia, 55.1 and C. V. Peterson, Scandinavia, 55.

Farm Dollar Value Lowest Since '35

Prices, Especially for Milk, Have Declined Rapidly Last Few Months

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The state and federal crop reporting services today had a bit of unpleasant news for Wisconsin agriculture.

In a bulletin just released it is pointed out that the present value of the Wisconsin farm dollar is the lowest reported since July of 1935, and recent figures show that the prices farmers are paying for the things they buy are about 30 per cent above the pre-war level while the prices they receive for their products are only three per cent above the 1910-1914 average.

Farm prices, the reporting services added, are now about 15 per cent below those of a year ago, the buying power of the Wisconsin farm dollar consequently is about 79 per cent of the pre-war level compared with 90 per cent a year ago.

Farm prices, especially for milk, have declined rapidly during recent months, it was said. Receipts from the sale of livestock and of milk determine the economic condition of Wisconsin farming. Both have declined recently.

April milk prices average $1.31 a hundred pounds. A year ago the price was $1.53.

'Bottomless' Gas Well Will Be Swimming Hole
Alto, La. —(P)— Come summer, the children here will have their swimming hole—probably the most expensive in the world—in a pond on top of a hill.

The pond is in the crater of the Alto gas well which blew out in 1928, caught fire and for two years made a pyrotechnics display at a terrific loss in labor and money. In the two years before it could be brought under control it belched flames, water and mud.

The crater is quiet now and more than 100 feet in diameter. No one knows the depth of the water in it, but it is deep enough for good swimming and has been for several years.

OUR ROVING CRIMINALS

The slaying of the Levine child, a bright and innocent boy of 12, reveals a calloused cruelty in keeping with certain other crimes that should be catalogued as the price we pay for extending the liberty of the individual further perhaps than reason or necessity dictates.

At the time the Levine body came to the surface a Cincinnati girl, six years of age, was found dead, ravished and repeatedly stabbed with an icepick or similar weapon.

And at the selfsame time the Chicago authorities were listening to the confession of a young Negro whose specialty was cracking women's skulls with a brick, a practice he had carried on over a distance of more than 2,000 miles as he shuttled back and forth across the continent living in jungles, begging a hand-out, stealing and destroying as he went.

These hellish and revolting offenses that are almost our daily supper fare are but part of the day's grist made possible in large measure by the ease of present day transportation. The rarity of these offenses prior to the era of the concrete highway does not indicate that fewer hyenas were loose but that hyenas are cunning and are stayed in the commission of their crimes when the chance of escape, which always includes the necessity of getting far away from the scene of crime or the place where they may have been recognized, is not considered bright.

Ease of operation in this restricted field of snarling perversity is augmented by the fact that great droves of people are moving about the country without rhyme or reason but justifying themselves with the shopworn excuse that they're looking for a job. These droves are well sprinkled with criminals of various sorts from the purse snatcher and clothes line thief to the ferocious animals who rend human bodies, particularly children, as horribly as legendary vampires. They too mouth the same chestnut about looking for a job. The only thing they seek is a victim. And we continue to operate our affairs of government as to facilitate their discovery of victims.

So long as the depression seems to be never-ending and so long as droves, concealing thousands of criminals, are going to tramp the country over, it would be a proper idea for the nation to take action against this indiscriminate tramping practice excepting those who have a legitimate mission and sufficient funds to bear them on their journey.

AND NOW THEY ACT AT SOUTH BEND

Announcement comes from South Bend, Ind., that the federal grand jury last week indicted 86 executives of various motor companies for violation of the law through alleged coercion of automobile dealers and a discrimination against independent finance companies.

These were the indictments expected before Judge Geiger at Milwaukee until the federal prosecutor, so slated by his position as to lose his balance, conceived himself to be the Holy Trinity, that is, judge, jury and prosecutor. He might have gotten away with the jury but he stumbled on the judge.

Since then we have witnessed a curious parade of the blind and without a "seeing eye," in the alleged department of justice of the government.

Indicating that the head of that department, the attorney general, also is obsessed with delusions of grandeur, we were reminded ourselves that he wrote the House Committee demanding an investigation of Judge Geiger's conduct and that the House Committee looked into the matter. The only public statement from that committee after it became familiar with the facts was the expression of one of its members, "We were given to understand the facts were wholly different from what they turned out to be." We can imagine the members of that committee telling the attorney general something about the duties of his office and the duties of judicial officers. It has been a fine opportunity for the attorney general to receive a broad and dignified education.

So the grand jury at South Bend merely indicts the same men on the same charges for which indictments might have been returned at Milwaukee had the attorney general's office been a little more familiar with American judicial procedure.

THE MORE WE OWE THE RICHER WE ARE

In his most recent fireside chat the President bore a message of comfort to the American people by telling them that taxes here are "nowhere near as high as they are in any other great nation that pretends to be up-to-date."

Such a remark presents the President's process of reasoning in all its naked error, the implication that a nation cannot "pretend to be up-to-date" unless it has high taxes, and that if our rulers can find any spot on earth where the taxes are higher than ours we have little or no right to complain.

In the first place the President's statement is not accurate. America has the highest percentage assessment against incomes in the world.

If, on the other hand, comparison was meant to be made to Britain and France on the basis of per capita tax we find the British figure larger and the French figure smaller, but ours, all the time, enormous.

The reason why the Roosevelt financial policies are the worst this country has ever known is not only to be identified in this peculiar quotation from the President but will be found in other quotations indicating that the campaign of debt and wastage was the result of definite ideas that making debts was the virtuous creation of wealth and that since such "wealth" has been created the country can pay higher taxes. It should be remembered in this connection that not long ago Mr. Roosevelt was justifying our heavy debt structure by whispering to the people that he had been advised that even if we shot the load to 70 billions we could stand it although he retreated hastily into a chamber of silence when a million voices demanded of him the name of any such adviser.

Britain and France, presumably nations that are "up-to-date" in the American sense, are staggering under a wartime debt much heavier than ours because they were engaged in the war much longer than we. France is in particularly bad shape because of broken Socialist promises, fore-runner of Roosevelt financial policies in this country, but quicker in securing bankrupt conditions because the restraints on legislative and executive officials in France are less than ours.

The logic of the Roosevelt theme of government is that there can be no harm in keeping America's financial condition in just as bad shape as that of other "up-to-date" nations, nor in laying the taxes on the people just as heavily as others find it necessary, whatever the cause with them, be it war or Socialism.

This is an extension of the Neighborly Policy although perhaps an entirely natural piece of stretching. We now have it encircling Europe. It has the support of that old thought, "Misery loves company." If we find an "up-to-date" country in a miserable condition let us become miserable too and that will make them less miserable.

Thus the President, although not in so many words, adopts another Karl Marx principle. While he still maintains his good American citizenship he has become a citizen of the world.

And his friends may justly argue that he is entirely consistent since the Abundant Life brings an abundance of debts, taxes and misery.

ANOTHER ACT ON THE MEXICAN STAGE

The best thing the Mexican president has done in the last year was his selection of Cedillo as the rebel leader upon whose heels he directed his army to follow.

Cedillo has a paunch like Two-Ten Galento. His wabble is broader than Donald Duck's. He couldn't make a hundred yards in a week. So long as you must have a revolution that is the sort of a Rebel leader to select.

By now the thousands of unemployed in the Mexican oil fields have their minds pretty well off their miseries. They have been following the lurid tales in Mexican newspapers of the insidious uprising supported by oil company money in the effort to destroy the super-patriot Cardenas. Men can withstand unemployment, cold, hunger and misery for quite a while, when they have a circus of that sort to watch.

But night follows day and however dark it may be light will come with the dawn. Mexico is back where she was before the ginger-bread revolt but she is armed with a far sort of weapon against her own people. She may now say to the thousands of oil workers out of jobs that her tremendous efforts against Britain and her breathless chase after Falstaff Cedillo have so depicted her strength and her treasure that the boys will have to divide up the tamales and even nibble at them cold.

Thus far Mexico has taken over a few hundred million dollars worth of property belonging to American citizens who made their investments within Mexican borders at the request of and with the consent of the Mexican government. The income from all this investment is lost to America. It no longer pays income taxes to our state and national governments. It is no longer added into estate taxes on the deaths of those interested.

It has every ancient earmark of brigandage with the rare addition that our government supinely permits it.

One in every six automobiles on United States farms is 10 years old or over, according to a government survey in selected counties of 40 states.

THE POST-CRESCENT

PRESCRIPTION

Some day when you're feeling grumpy
And all the world seems blue,
When "Laugh and the world laughs with you"
Doesn't mean a thing to you.
Throw away your pills and lotions,
And then for your good health's sake,
Give yourself a dose of God's sunshine
By the waters of the lake.
You'll awaken at early morning
To the caroling of the birds,
Dozens of woodland voices
Too melodious for words.
For awhile you drowsily listen
To the lapping of the waves,
And then a "good" feeling reminds you
That it's food your "inner man" craves.
While the Mrs. prepares your breakfast
You hunt up the rod and reel,
When your boat skims out over the water
How refreshed that lake-breeze makes you feel.
Maybe you'll catch fish for luncheon,
And maybe you'll eat buttered toast;
But whether or not — you are lucky,
You're enjoying the sport you love most.
When evening comes, you're dead-tired,
But you've made the most of each hour.
You've swam, you've fished, you've strolled on The shore.
And now from a leafy bower
You're watching a beautiful sunset,
And you thrill at the glorious sight,
And life once more seems worth living
As you drift down to dreamland that night.

—THE LITTLE BUNDLE

The column for today was arranged yesterday, after a double-holiday weekend. And am I ever drifting down to dreamland. Obey, obey. Lazzzzzzzz.

Yesterday morning it became necessary to wallop Timmie-the-Spaniel because he hollered too long and loud at the scared youngster who was trying to deliver a handbill at our place. T.J. howled mournfully when he was walloped and looked up at me with those big, sad eyes and practically wrenched the heart right out of me. All morning long I felt half guilty for having smacked him. "Well," I remarked at home yesterday noon, "I'll bet Timmie didn't yip at people the rest of the morning." "That's what you think," I was told. "He gave the bakery man a fancy dressing-down."

Oh well, it saves on the doorbell.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

FATHER VAN'S BOYS

Deep in the life of every little boy
Who came beneath his sympathetic gaze,
He sowed such seeds of piety and joy;
They shed their fragrance over Manhood's ways.
In heaven now, he sings a song of praise,
But on this earth the music of his word
In hundreds of men's hearts can still be heard.
He speaks to them of hope on gloomy days.

There never was a boy who sought in vain
For his warm comfort. . . . He was always there
To clear the baffling way; to make God plain
To the young soul; to understand and share
The burden of the hour; to heal with prayer
The youthful hurt. . . . His handclasp and his smile
Unravelling every problem. . . . The hard mile
Was short because of him, and skies were fair.

To swing the door of heaven for his boys,
He just walked on a little way ahead,
He brings them nearer to eternal joys;
He leads all back to God whom once he led.
He walks among us still with noble tread;
We see him often on the city street.
He looks out from the eyes of men we meet,
And lives in every soul his spirit fed.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, May 30, 1928

Dr. W. C. Sullivan, mayor of Kaukauna and Blaine-LaFollette delegate to the Republican national convention from the Ninth district, was being groomed for the office of state senator from the Fourteenth district in the event that John Englund, present senator, decided not to be a candidate, according to a Madison political writer.

All officers of the Appleton Rainbow veterans were re-elected at an annual meeting at the Rainbow cottage on Lake Winnebago at Menasha. They were: Lothar G. Graef, president; Edward Lutz, vice president; August Arndt, treasurer; John E. Hantschel, secretary; Robert Morke, historian.

Presence of a painter with a ladder with which he was enabled to rescue Mrs. Ernest Krueger, 1625 N. Appleton street, from the second story porch in the rear of her flat after she was trapped by flames probably saved the woman from injury the previous afternoon. The rescuer was Henry Kasten, 1711 N. Appleton street.

Lawrence Memorial chapel was crowded Wednesday morning as Appleton patriotic organizations and citizens paid homage to the men who served their country in time of war. Dean Wilson S. Naylor was the principal speaker.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 4, 1913

Dr. D. S. Rinnels had been re-elected president for the ensuing year of the Men's Sunday Evening club of the Congregational church. F. T. Warrington was named vice president; Albert VanWyk, treasurer; Wilson S. Paterson, secretary.

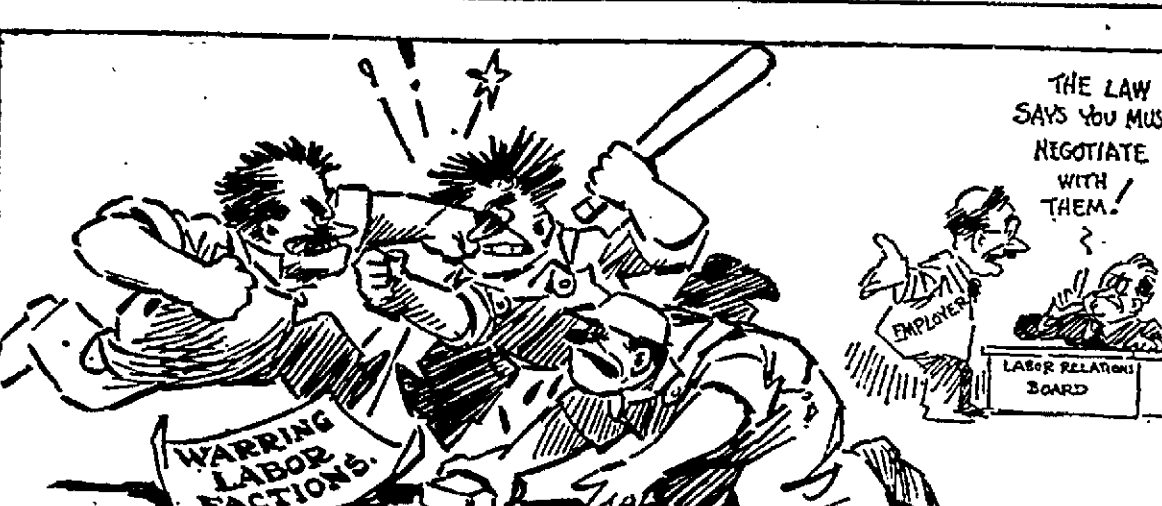

Eighty-six students were to be graduated from Lawrence college, the conservatory of music and the school of expression during commencement exercises that week.

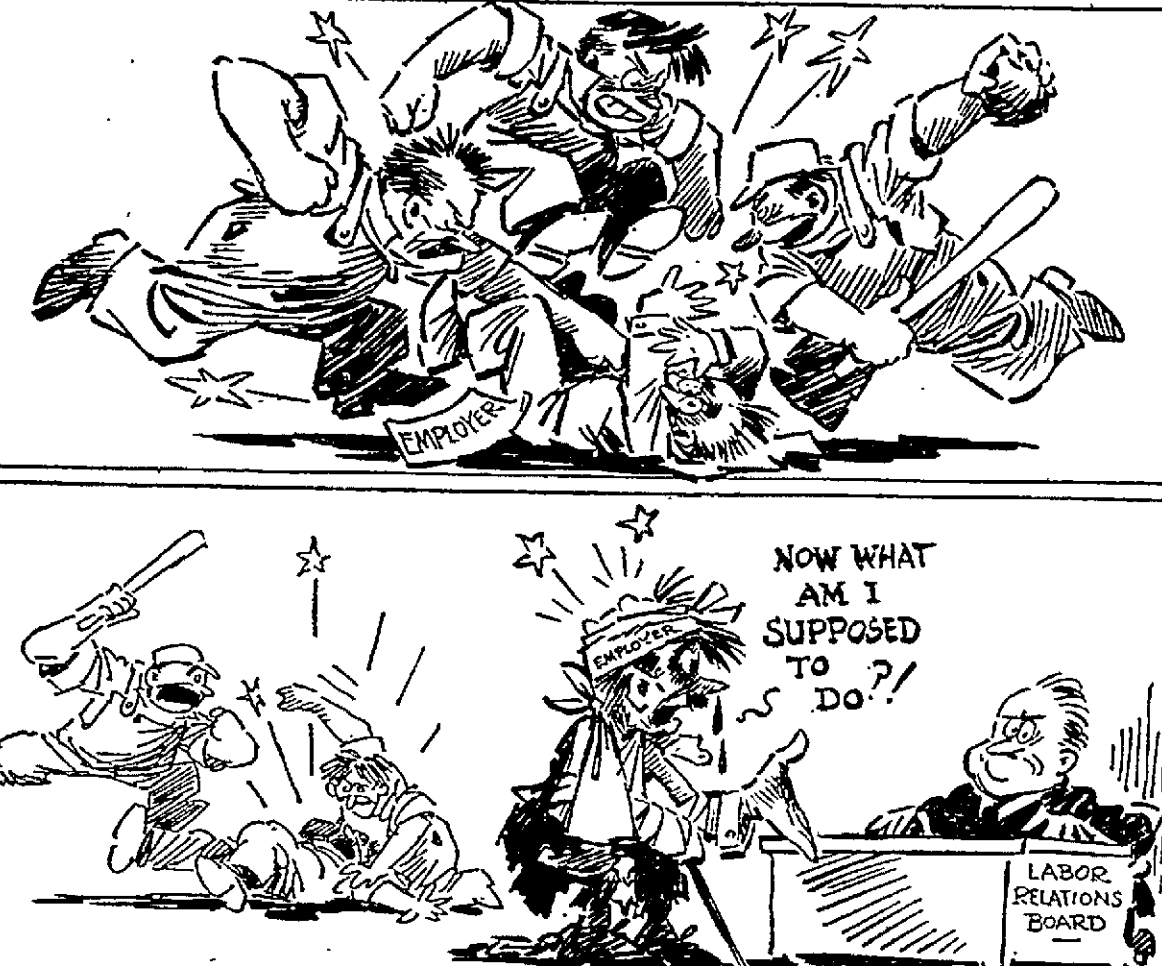

The Appleton Mannerer elected the following officers at a meeting the previous night: Hauer's feed store; Director, E. Schueller; president, Otto W. Schaefer; vice president, Ed Hussner; secretary, Albert Brandt; financial secretary, Otto Kaiser; librarian, F. W. Wetzel; treasurer, C. H. Huesemann; trustees, Herman Satow, Louis Weber and George Popp; financial committee, Wetzel, Philip Vogt and John Goos; music committee, Schueller, Hussner, Huesemann and D. Muench.

Sixty-one seniors of Appleton High school were to receive their diplomas that night at the annual commencement exercises to be held at the Appleton theater.

The British army has borrowed a "super" cook from the London County Council for a year in a campaign to brighten up meals for the troops.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING UNDER THE WAGNER ACT

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

COLON ACIDITY

Twenty years ago Bulgarian sour milk, yaghour or yoghourt, enjoyed wide popularity as a health beverage. It was introduced into this country by Prof. Metchnikoff who conceived the theory that the liberal consumption of milk so curdled implanted and maintained a vigorous growth of the special strain of lactic bacilli (Bacillus bulgaricus) in the colon, to which he ascribed the longevity and the vigorous health of many of the people he observed in southern Europe. Metchnikoff's own directions for preparing Bulgarian sour milk were simple: Skim off the cream, boil the milk five minutes, let cool to body temperature, and sow with a Bacillus bulgaricus. He advised that every one should drink a pint of such Bulgarian sour milk daily.

Like nearly all such fads, Bulgarian milk reached its peak of popularity and then rapidly declined when a new and reputedly better kind of cultured, fermented milk was introduced, namely, milk soured with Bacillus acidophilus instead of Bacillus bulgaricus. The acidophilus strain of lactic acid bacillus was found to be more readily established in the colon. Whether it is practically so or not, I have no idea, but anyway, I don't think it matters. In my judgment plain milk allowed to sour naturally is as healthful and wholesome in any case as any kind of soured, fermented, cultured or treated milk can be. I believe plain old country style buttermilk is fully equal to any fancy milk beverage in health-promoting qualities. Moreover it is my conviction that if one does not care for buttermilk or sour milk or curdled or clabbered or fermented or cultured milk, whole fresh milk or skim milk (the portion left after the cream is removed) is virtually as effective as any other milk product in implanting and maintaining the desirable preponderance of lactic acid bacilli in the intestine.

It is desirable that fermentation (change of starch, dextrin, dextrose, maltose, lactose or other sugars into lactic acid, water and carbonic acid or carbon dioxide gas) should be more active in the colon than putrefaction (change of protein or nitrogenous material into peptones, proteoses, ammonia, aminoacids, phenol, indol, skatol and various other more or less "toxic" sounding decomposition products). At least the lactic fermentation predominates in healthy persons, and putrefaction tends to predominate in those who do not enjoy good health.

The lactic bacilli, naturally present in milk and responsible for all souring of milk, change lactose (milk sugar) into lactic acid. This same process occurs in the intestine. The acid so produced makes the medium unfavorable for the growth and activity of germs which are responsible for putrefaction. The putrefactive types of germs are more likely to be of the disease-producing kind. They prefer a medium that is neutral or alkaline.

These are simply the fundamental physiological facts. In another talk we'll consider the character of the diet in relation to acidity in the colon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Banana Oil

Is it injurious to health to work in a room where banana oil is used all the time in spray painting? (W. M. A.)

Answer — Various solvents having an odor like that of banana oil are commonly called "banana oil" chiefly amyyl acetate. Constant exposure to it tends to produce irritation of eyes and nasal mucous membrane; if much is inhaled it can cause sleep terminating in death. The workroom should have exhaust fan ventilation to carry the fumes away.

Operations

A bet's appendicitis is the occasion for most operations in this country today. B bet's gonorrhea and its effects make most operations necessary. Which is right? (T. R.)

Answer — Survey of the records of 8,758 white families in 130 localities in 18 states between 1928 and 1931 showed that over a period of 12 months there were 65 operations per 1,000 persons per year. One-third of the operations were for removal of tonsils. Setting broken bones was next, appendicitis third, removal of tumors fourth in frequency. (U. S. Public Health Reports, April 22, 1933).

Victuals and Arteries

Must be a good many men of my age (55) who would like to know something about the effects of food on the arteries. How about some talks on this by good Ol' Doc Brady? (N. K.)

Answer — Yabuh think how boring such articles are to the young folk who are interested in everything but arteries. You will find information and instruction of practical value in the booklet "Victuals and Vite"—for copy send 25 cent coin and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"

If June 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. until 12 noon; from 2 to 4 p. m., and from 9 to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 3 to 10 a. m.; from 7 to 9 p. m., and from 11 p. m. until midnight.

Sanguine expectations may be realized this day, so you can be of good cheer and hope for the best. The four winds are apt to bring many interesting news items, some very gratified by the proof of some bearing on your personal affairs. Be careful how you deal with anything of an intangible nature. This is a day that will require your thinking clearly and being thoroughly practical. Your sense of humor is apt to be unusually keen this day, with the result that your conversations are likely to be decidedly whimsical and entertaining. You may be very gratified by the proof of some friend's loyalty and devotion. Many people will require tactful handling for otherwise they will take to heart things said in fun. Married and engaged couples, and those who are no longer "heart whole nor fancy free," should recall that: "Love is ever the beginning of knowledge as fire is of light."

If a woman and June 2 is your birthday, people, as a rule, will trust you implicitly. You ought to be most efficient, especially in business matters. Animals will instinctively be attracted to you, and you ought to be able to become a skilled equestrian, as horses are likely to be one of your favorite pets. Your friends must not be permitted to influence you regarding your domestic affairs. You alone can work out your own problems. You ought to have a clever tongue, a magnetic personality and a

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Freshly delivered to congress is a little bundle containing some of the first laws produced by the new and independent Philippine commonwealth. One of the initial efforts was a measure to outlaw cockfighting at polling places.

Under the new independence act, all laws enacted by the Philippine congress must be submitted to this government for approval.

They give a close-up glance at a little country putting on its first long pants in the big wide world and if some of the output sounds trivial it must be conceded that other ideas are good and might be followed in the United States without harm.

In the pile of laws is an act abolishing the poll tax, which in times past has been used to harass voters in the same manner as once was complained of generally throughout the south. Under terms of poll tax laws in the Philippines no one could sign an official document unless he had paid his tax. It was used at times to frighten away aspiring voters who sought to approach the polls without first having paid the poll tax.

Tough On Nicknames

One law prohibits a candidate from using more than one nickname on the ballot, so if Bopar bal Celeste wants to run for the job of provincial governor or some mayor of Zamboanga he can identify himself as Bongo Bill or the Sultan of Sulu, but not both, even when some friends call him one and some the other.

Side by side with that act is another prohibiting candidates for provincial governor or mayor from spending in the campaign more than one-third of the pay they expect to get from the office, a provision which would raise Old Ned in many a spot in this country.

Appointive officials can't run for elective office on government time. If they want to campaign they first must resign. Something besides novelty could be found in one act denying the vote to persons who cannot make their own ballots, or another requiring voters to place their thumb mark on a detachable stub on the ballot.

To take care of any illiterates who might be bothered in marking a ballot there is an increased appropriation for new elementary schools. There is also a restriction on a gambling game something akin to the numbers business.

Soft on Prisoners

Appropriations are made for production and cheap distribution of various preventive serums, including "tiki tiki" to check an island ailment akin to rickets. Another bill sets up a fund for collecting folk lore and folk songs, and money is set aside to give certain employees at the Cullion leper colony a 28-day vacation with pay.

Farming is the Philippine lifeline, so students of agriculture are admitted to the school of agriculture without tuition or matriculation fees.

For veterans or political favorites drawing pensions or gratuities from the government may not draw government pay for other jobs unless they give up their pensions. As much as five centavos is to be paid for each rat or mouse killed in the Manila rat extermination campaign.

An occupation tax lists lawyers, physicians, architects, engineers and insurance salesmen in the top bracket at 50 pesos annually; dentists, veterinarians and photographers in the 40 peso bracket; and pharmacists, manicurists and tattooers in the 20 peso bracket. (The Philippine silver peso is 50 cents at par.)

Nattiest of all is a law which says: "When, in the judgment of the secretary of justice, a prisoner merits consideration, his wife, family or fiancée may be permitted to join him, and the transportation from their homes to the penal colonies may be paid."

Expect Report Soon on Brown County Road Booms

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A report on the state's audit of the books of the Brown county highway department will be completed in another week, Thomas Davlin, chairman of the state highway commission, said Tuesday.

The termination of the Brown county highway accounts was ordered by the highway commission after a petition requesting such action had been sent to the governor's office.

Raymond Mallow, head of the municipal accounting division of the state tax commission, is in charge of the project, which is financed by the highway commission.

There were pictures of race horses all over the walls, including all the big favorites and a couple of young horses, "Red" and "Veolanda," a filly, which they own.

Veloz and Yolanda are "hoss" conscious. If a sack of feed or a saddle had been in evidence the place would have looked like a paddock. Yolanda, who is dark, wears mostly clothes that are severely dark, relieved by a rhinestone clasp at the throat. With her deep olive complexion and flashing eyes the effect is striking. Veloz lounged comfortably in a trim, dark business suit. He was in fine fettle.

On a table lay a copy of their new book, "Tango and Rumba, The Dances of Today and Tomorrow," described by Veloz and Yolanda. It is a technical guide to tapers' accompaniment. It has been selling exceptionally well.

Looking at them, you think, "Here are Veloz and Yolanda, absolutely the last word in the dance world." And then Yolanda breaks in: "Say I wonder who'll win the sixth at Jamaica."

They danced in New York, and in Chicago, and in San Francisco. They danced in Kansas City, and Detroit, and in Los Angeles. They began to see their names more frequently in the newspapers. People began saying: "Have you seen Veloz and Yolanda?" wonder where she gets those gorgeous gowns. And how they danced! Before they quite realized it that little four-letter word was trotting at their heels, saying "uncle."

Perhaps you read about the recital they gave in Carnegie Hall not long ago. People said it couldn't be done — successfully. Through 15 numbers, which represented, roughly, an hour and 15 minutes of continuous dancing, they waltzed and floated and swirled and glided to irresistible music, much of it written by Veloz himself. When the finale came people were amazed. Why, they had hardly gotten in their seats. It didn't seem possible that an evening had passed away.

"But wasn't it tough?" I asked Veloz. "I mean, all that rehearsing and work that must have been necessary." That made Veloz laugh. "No," he said. "As a matter of fact, we didn't have a chance to rehearse. The hall was busy practically every night. But we were fortunate in having Pancho's orchestra to play for us. He knew all our numbers. He has played them for us frequently."

Here is an item about these two that may prove interesting. When I invaded their suite at the Plaza I expected to enter an atmosphere of the dance world such as you would expect in the habit of two such prominent figures. Instead, I encountered the casual confusion of a much lived-in apartment. . . . A ping-pong table was set up. . . .

Major Childhood Faults Demand Treatment, Cure

BY ANGELO PATRI

The serious faults of childhood demand treatment and cure. By serious faults I mean those that people generally condemn — lying, stealing, cheating for personal gain, injuring others without reason or pity. At some time or other a child will show traces of one of these faults; a simple correction serves the purpose. When these tendencies seem to strengthen and continue in spite of treatment and corrections it is necessary to dig down into the child's life to discover the cause of the difficulty. Until that cause can be found and removed little can be done to change the child's behavior.

Begin early. Be honest with yourself about the child's doing. When you see him planning, executing and covering up a deception or any other sort of wrong-doing don't say, "It is all his active imagination," to comfort yourself and avoid the unhappiness of laying bare his error. Imaginative story-telling has a different quality from selfish lying, and any experienced adult knows the difference. Cowardice of spirit sometimes keeps us from facing the ugly thing when we see it rearing its head. Parents and teachers cannot afford that sort of self-indulgence. We have to dig down below the roots of the thing and cast it out.

How? That is a fair question, but nobody has the answer because each child varies according to his peculiar nature, and one has to study each mistake in relation to each child to find the answer. One child is in fear of social failure, another of punishment; one child is ill, and illness warps the thought of the patient. One child lacks the power to judge right from wrong; another is suffering from a disease of the nervous system. A few cases of bad behavior are caused by poor teaching and example at home. The causes are as varied as the behavior of the children, and must be skillfully uncovered.

This requires the cooperation of the family, the school, the whole

Power Is Required For Jump

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Continuing our discussion of intermediate bidding, we come to the question of raising responder's suit takeout. Let us consider the following hand:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
AK J 9 5 2
Q 7 5
J 9 4

WEST
J 8 4
AK J 10 3 2

EAST
A 7 4
Q 7 3
K 6 4

SOUTH
Q 8 6 3
AK 6 5 2
A 7

The bidding:
South West North East
1 heart Pass 1 spade Pass

If, in the South position, we allow ourselves to be so pleased with the spade response that we now strongly urge partner to go to game, by giving him a double raise, we will merely prove that we have unsound ideas on the subject of rebidding. We must not lose sight of the fact that partner is permitted, in fact invited, to respond to our opening heart bid with the higher ranking spade suit on as little as one-half honor trick. Obviously, if that is all he holds, there will be no play for game, unless he has very freakish distribution. As a matter of fact, if we make this double raise and find partner with an absolute "minny," although he will pass he will need luck to fulfill even a three spade contract. For there to be a reasonably good play for game, partner must be able to take care of certain losers which are staring us right in the face, namely, one club loser, two diamonds, and the top spades. (We are permitted enough optimism to assume that he will not lose a heart trick.) Thus we find that, in order to avoid two trump losers, partner must hold as good as the king of spades. If he has that card he still must hold as good as the king in either diamonds or clubs, to hold his minor suit losers to two tricks. By this time we should begin to realize that, although we have a good spade fit and three-plus honor tricks, we are in no position to prod partner into rebidding. Suppose we actually did give a double raise to the spade take-out. North, with a very fair spade suit, and a queen and jack on the outside, certainly would not "hang" one short of game. He would accept our urgent invitation. And, unless the opponents slipped badly, there would be no remote play for ten tricks. With either a club opening, or a diamond opening and a club shift, the defenders would establish three minor suit tricks before our poor partner could get his breath. The ace of trumps would be difficult to shut out as the setting trick.

Thus, since we must see that there probably will be no game unless partner can take voluntary action in response to a single raise from us, that single raise automatically becomes the correct bid.

A double raise should be based on the following: four trumps (in this case, spades), a singleton (in this case, an additional honor trick over a minimum opening bid with no singleton in the hand should contain at least four honor tricks.

A single raise shows merely (a) four trumps, in which case the hand need contain no added value either in honor tricks or distribution, or (b) three trumps with a singleton or an additional one-half honor trick.

Illustrating this last condition, if our hand were something like:

Q 8 5 ♥ AK 6 4 2 ♦ 3 ♠ A 6 5 4

we would be justified in singly raising the spade take-out rather than merely rebidding hearts or showing the club suit at the two level.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

(Copyright, 1938)

way that works is the slow and careful way, taken step by step, to the cause of the trouble.

Don't gloss over the facts to comfort yourself or excuse yourself. They cannot be removed that way. Don't feel disgraced, if you have done your best to help the child. Don't tell the world about his confidence: remain his friend. Never tell him that he is hopeless and that you can't do anything with him. Maybe you feel that way, but don't tell it. Try again and have faith in the ultimate success of your efforts. The great majority of children tend to goodness and to normal, average maturity.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquirers from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamp addressed envelope for reply.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Easter Island's Stone Statues

Volcanoes have poured out millions of tons of lava and ashes on Easter Island. In fact the whole place is classed as "volcanic," and may have been built up from the bottom of the ocean by one eruption after another.

The ashes have been important in what we call "the art history" of the people. Pressed down in the course of time, they became rather soft rock. From this rock, the natives cut a great number of statues, and were able to do so with nothing better than stone tools.

There was a time when many, if not all, of the statues were hats. These were of reddish stone, and the rock for them was obtained from a different quarry. Scores of the hats have been found on the ground — very likely they were shaken off by an earthquake.

Some statues are only three or four feet high, but others have a height of from 20 to 30 feet. One measures 36 feet.

The largest statue of all, however, was never set up. It lies at the quarry, and has a length of 66 feet! No doubt the moving of the 66-foot statue was too much of a problem. The sculptors made it, but the moving men didn't know how to get it down the mountain side. It is a wonder they were able to transport some of the others — weighing from 30 to 50 tons apiece.

It has been suggested that Easter Island — with its 47 square miles of land — might be a last relic of a continent which sank below the surface of the Pacific ocean, but scientists do not agree with the idea. The best opinion seems to be that the statues were made less than 700 years ago.

Riddles, games and puzzles will be found in the "Funmaker" leaflet. If you would like a copy send a 3c stamped, return envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Ford Gives Recipe For Successful Married Life

BY DOROTHY DIX

At the recent celebration of his golden wedding, Henry Ford made a little speech in which he said that he and his wife had never had a quarrel and that they had always worked together, with the same interests and ambitions.

No better recipe for making marriage a success has ever been given than Mr. Ford compressed in this one brief phrase. It hits on every cylinder and it will stand the wear and tear and hard usage of everyday living.

To begin with, it offers the one sure cure for neurotic wives. It is work. It is giving them plenty to do. It is keeping them so busy that they don't have time to psychoanalyze their emotions and find out that some slickhaired gigolo is their real soulmate instead of the hard-working business man to whom they are united, or to shop around and see how many things they want that they haven't got. It is the women with nothing to do who are dissatisfied, peevish, fretful and complaining.

It is the women with leisure in which to contemplate their husbands' faults and shortcomings and how far they fall below their ideals who fill the divorce courts. It is the women who except search their systems for symptoms, who enrich doctors and fill the sanatoriums. It is the wives whose only occupation is killing time who get into messy scandals. For Satan still finds work for idle hands to do. Especially when they are women's hands.

Men have the idea that the way to be kind to a woman is to keep her pampered and idle. Every ever-loving husband dreams of a time when he can provide his wife so many servants that she will have nothing to do but sit on a silk cushion and sew up a seam and feed upon strawberries, sugar and cream, like the princess in the fairy tale.

Never was there a greater mistake. The real way to make a wife happy is to give her so much to do and keep her so on the jump that she won't have time to go out and borrow trouble. The contented wives are the poor women with half a dozen children to slave for, not the rich women who are bored to death trying to amuse themselves.

The next, and perhaps the vital point of Mr. Ford's philosophy of marriage, calls attention to the value of teamwork. He and his wife worked together. They had the same interests and the same ambitions. And that makes an unbeatable combination for both happiness and success.

A great many fancy rules are given for husbands and wives retaining each other's affection. They are told that they must preserve their romance, that they must keep themselves glamorous. Phooey! It can't be done. The only real, reliable, never-fail way in which a married couple can keep their love alive is for them to be absorbed in the same interests. Then they never have to wander away from home to find some one who understands them and speaks their language.

The great tragedy of American marriage is that so few husbands and wives realize this, or make any attempt to cultivate any interest in the other's interest. The wife yawns when her husband tries to tell her about his business hopes and plans. The husband scoffs at the wife's clubs and friends and social aspirations. They live in different worlds and they grow so far apart that there is no common ground on which they can meet. Hence the pathetic old couples that we see all about us who can't even carry on a conversation together.

As for the value of the husband and wife being yokemates who put all of their strength and energy into pulling the load together, there

Lengthen Eye Lashes By Pulling

BY ELSIE PIERCE

Long lashes forming a luxurious frame for the eyes are the envy of many women. A manicurist I know has such long lashes that patrons sitting at her table stare almost embarrassingly. It is hard to believe that such lashes are natural, yet it is obvious that they are not artificial. After she feels their concentrated gaze for a while, the manicurist will volunteer "yes, they are natural" (without being asked) and every so often she will say "would you like to pull them." It is surprising how many women do want to pull them.

And it may be that the little manicurist knows what is good for her. At least Alice Reinheart, radio star, feels that a good tug makes for longer lashes. Her tremendously long lashes seem almost too good to be true. She says they were always fairly long but she has devoted methodical care to them.

Brushes Each Night

She uses yellow vaseline, believing that it has properties lacking in the white variety. She brushes the lashes with it every night and rubs it on her lids and around her eyes as well. This keeps the skin soft and smooth. Then she pulls them, giving each lash a good tug with her fingertips. She says "never mind if they come out, those falling winks are making way for new ones in that" will grow longer and thicker in time.

Clear Eyes

Long lashes are doubly lovely and effective when they frame clear, bright eyes. Miss Reinheart thinks it is always a good idea to use a good eye wash after a hard day, especially a sunny or windy one. She also believes that the old theory of looking at a far-off object is a good one. After you have done a deal of reading or sewing, look up and fix your eyes on a distant object. Another thing for tired eyes that is restful to nerves too is a large pad of cotton soaked in witch hazel and a ten minutes rest—preferably with mind a blank and visualizing a dark spot on the wall. This is very relaxing and soothing to entire nervous system.

My bulletin "Eyes Beautiful" outlines many helpful hints on corrective care and makeup for the eyes. If you wish it, please ask for it by name and include self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. Write me in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

PEOPLE IN A CAR

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there any definite rule about seating guests in a car when my husband and I ask them driving with us? My husband drives the car on these occasions and either the guests are (1) a man and wife (2) two women or (3) young man and woman who are engaged.

Answer: (1) If you are all friends there is no rule further than seating them together who have most to say to each other. If the man and your husband are particularly congenial, then seat the man in front and seat the wife in the back with you. If your guests are strangers, it would be more formal to seat the wife next to your husband, and invite her husband to sit with you. But there is no fixed rule. (2) One with him and the other with you, in whichever order would be most agreeable to all of you. (3) You would let the engaged people sit together.

Whose Arm Is It?

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I read something in a newspaper which was, I know, intended to be fun, but which to me has always seemed a problem. The bit in the paper was headed "One for Emily Post" and said, "I wish to submit the following question: Who is permitted to use the arms of the seats in a theatre?" Will you take this seriously for a minute and tell me if there is any way to preserve one's rights and, incidentally one's temper, in the theatre when next neighbors insist upon monopolizing the arm rests?

Answer: As a matter of fact, this is a very interesting as well as important question since it does often happen that we sit in the theatre with no arm to lean on at all. The person on the aisle naturally uses the arm that is on the aisle and that leaves the one on his other side for his companion. When a seat is in a section between two aisles, the one who hits at mid-center will have the luxury of two arms. But unless this plan is practiced some one in the row will be without an arm.

A Speaker's Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: Is a speaker's wife always included at the speaker's table? We are having several speakers at an organization dinner and they are not strangers to the community, although they are not members of the organization. Their wives are invited, of course, but in can be no argument. They are bound to get there. It is teamwork that does it. No man can succeed who has a wife who is lazy and a balker and a shirker and who refuses to co-operate with him. And there are mighty few men who fail who have wives who put their hearts and their backs in their husbands' careers and make of their shoulders a ladder on which they can climb to success.

All of which sums up into emphasizing once more that marriage is a partnership in which the husband and wife must work together in harmony and with a single purpose if they want it to succeed.

CRISP FABRIC

BY ANNE ADAMS

No thrifty woman need look wilted when she is doing her daily dozen duties about the house, if she buys some crisp, summery fabric and gets busy with this Anne Adams pattern. You'll simply adore it. It has been designed to suit the latest types of cotton prints—blossoms quaint and bright as those in Grandmother's garden — neat conventional — bold, brilliant florals, dots, checks and plaids as new as tomorrow. It has big useful pockets, and short sleeves for greater coolness; best of all it opens down the front to lay flat for ironing!

Pattern 4819 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 4½ yards 36 inch fabric and 2½ yards ric-rac. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Don't envy the smartness of other women—send for the new Anne Adams summer pattern book at once—and make the most flattering outfit you ever owned! You, and the children, can have the season's favorite styles in the newest fabrics—for very little money. Planning a stay at the beach? Remaining in town? No matter where you summer you'll want what is pictured . . . and that's everything from sand-and-sea togs to filmy dance gowns. Price of book fifteen cents. Price of pattern fifteen cents. Book and pattern together twenty-five cents.

Send your order to Appleton Post-Crescent, Pattern Department, 243 W. 17th St. New York, N. Y.

providing places for them we don't want to ask them to the speakers' table if it is not discourteous not to. Where, if not at the same table with their husbands, should they be seated?

Answer: It is never considered necessary that the wives of the speakers be seated at the head table unless the speakers are very few and there is plenty of room for

GUARD ARMY'S PROPERTY

Sacramento, Calif.—(P)—The army isn't weakening or anything, but it's going to hire civilian guards to look after its new $7,000,000 air base here.

This was revealed by Lt.-Col. Harry A. Strauss, who will be commanding. The civilian guard will be on duty during final construction phases, but will be discharged when the army actually takes over.

The study book, "The Magic Box," will be completed at the picnic of Light Brigade of Trinity English Lutheran church at 2:15 Saturday afternoon at Pierce park. Mrs. D. E. Bosserman has been in charge of the brigade meetings.

Pastor and Wife Fete Sunday School Group

Clintonville — The Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Marks gave a baccalaureate breakfast Sunday morning for five members of Salem Evangelical Sunday school, who are members of the 1938 graduation class of Clintonville High school. The young people are: Lorraine Theis, Anita Radke, Perry Stichman, Elsworth Below, and Gale Jorgensen.

Salem Evangelical Ladies Aid society will be entertained Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Reinhart Buettner in Pella. Mrs. William Buettner and Mrs. Charles Kieckhefer will have charge of the program.

Miss Leona Marks, a teacher in the Neillsville High school, has completed her school term and has arrived to spend several weeks with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Marks. She plans to leave here June 14 for Denver, Colo., where she will attend the summer session of the Denver School of Commerce. Miss Marks has for several years been the commercial teacher at Neillsville and plans to return there for the 1938-39 term.

The trip to Denver will be made by automobile in company with several former classmates of White-water State Teachers' college, who will also attend the summer school which opens June 21.

Mrs. George Below was called to Lomira by the death of her aunt, Mrs. Albert Liskow, 72, whose funeral took place there Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Below spent Memorial day at Oshkosh with her brother, Byron Miller and Mrs. Miller, who also attended the funeral at Lomira.

A daughter was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ebert at the Clintonville Community hospital.

A large crowd from this city went to Marion Monday evening to attend a concert at the village park given by the combined Clintonville and Marion High school bands. A similar event will be given in Clintonville in about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson of Lansing, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hirst of Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wiley of Milwaukee spent the weekend at the R. G. Gibson home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mews of Wakefield, Mich., visited several days at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Korb.

Mrs. John Ludolph and her niece, Miss Dorothy Jahsman, have gone to Indianapolis Ind. for a two weeks' visit with the former's daughter, Mrs. Edward Sisson. Mrs. Sisson was Miss Bernice Ludolph of this city before her marriage April 17.

Girl Scout Program Is Explained

THE revised Girl Scout program as it affects adult workers in the movement was outlined by Mrs. Homer H. Benton, Appleton Girl Scout commissioner, at a joint meeting of troop committee members, leaders and council members last night at Memorial Presbyterian church parlors. Mrs. Benton stressed the fact that leader training will be more important than ever under the new program and that all adult workers will need general training on the program. She also reported on highlights of the regional conference held in Chicago in May.

Miss Dorothy Calnin, local director of scouting, explained the history of the program development, the changes in the program as contrasted with the present set-up, and objectives of the new program, and she outlined the 10 fields around which the new program is built. Mrs. R. M. Atcherson spoke on ideals of camping, emphasizing the values of camping experiences for girls. She outlined day camps, overnight trips, established camping, squire trips to scenic spots by truck and bus, and she pointed out that many girls receive no camping experience and added that every effort is being made to make some type of camping available to all girls.

Mrs. Milton C. Townner, chairman of training and personal, opened the meeting with a short history of Girl Scouting and an outline of plans for the meeting. Following the talks, an informal get-acquainted period was held during which each person present introduced herself and told of her work in scouting. Mrs. Townner was in charge of the program and Mrs. S. C. Shannon was chairman of the refreshment committee assisted by Mrs. A. J. Gloss, Mrs. C. R. Seaborn and Mrs. Chris Mul-len.

Graduation Fetes Held at Kimberly

Dean F. O. Holt Is Principal Speaker at Commencement

Kimberly — F. O. Holt, dean of the University of Wisconsin Extension division, addressed the high school graduating class at the commencement exercises at the high school assembly, Tuesday evening.

He said that many parents are skeptical about the attitude of young people in this modern, intricate world of today. Youth of America must be trained to earn a living effectively and manage their affairs efficiently, he stated.

Dean Holt asserted that at the present time democracy is on the rocks, but that he believes the attitude of the youth of America is for democracy, philosophy and the ideals for which they stand. He urged youth not to yield to emotional appeal and propaganda but to rely on the fine type of training they received throughout the years of their high school and college education.

Survival of democracy is based largely on religion, the speaker declared.

Francis Hubers, valedictorian, and Bertha Dupont, salutatorian, also addressed the audience. The exercises were opened with a march by the high school band, under direction of Gordon Kotkosky. The glee club also sang several selections during the program.

Jess Wydevren, president of the Booster club, presented C. A. Barrand an award for the highest number of points during the year for scholastic ability, mental attitude, good citizenship and athletic activities.

Principal J. R. Gerrits awarded diplomas to the following graduating class: Bertha Dupont, Shirley Melcher, Edward Krueger, Gordon Siebers, James Porter, Bernice Vander Velden, Joyce Limpert, Amede Poppe, Jane Ann Fulcer, Evelyn Brum, Marie Valentyne, Ione Hopfensperger.

Ruth Krieser, Ray Godschalk, Ambrose Couillard, Joyce Bunnow, Frances Hubers, Chester Barrand, John Van Sustern, John Kneepkins, Elaine Busch, Giles Mennen, Amelia Montie, Lloyd Lang, Jr.

Board Engages 3 New Senior High School Teachers

New Building to be Formally Inspected Tuesday, June 7

Three new senior high school teachers were engaged by the board of education at Lincoln school last night to fill vacancies.

Miss Carol Anderson, graduate of LaCrosse State Teachers college and instructor at Beaver Dam High school the last two years, and Miss Eileen Hammerberg, LaCrosse State Teachers college graduate and instructor at Beloit High school the last two years, were hired as physical education instructors. Herbert Simon, graduate of Whitewater Teachers college, teacher at Freedom High school one year and in Kimberly, high school three years, was hired as a commercial teacher.

Between 20 and 30 thousand board feet of lumber was purchased for $300 from Maurice Schumacher Co., general contractors at the new high school, and will be used in remodeling of the old school and sidewalk and driveway building at the new school. An office building on the new high school site was bought for $165 and will be used as a WPA job office and for tool storage.

Formal inspection of the new high school building was scheduled for 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, June 7.

Repair and maintenance work to be done at the various schools during the summer months was authorized and the board decided to advertise for bids on a new utility truck. Bids will be sought with and without the body.

Jack Pierre was engaged for the duration of the summer to assist in moving equipment into the new school and Ralph Van Handel, high school graduate now attending Lawrence college, was engaged to unpack and shelve the 9,000 books in the new school library.

Miss Ruth Mielke, high school librarian, will get the library into final shape for the opening of school the last two weeks of summer vacation. Miss Margaret O'Leary was engaged to work in the Roosevelt Junior High school library for a period of one month.

Wins $5,799 in Auto Crash Suit

Jury Brings in Verdict in Favor of Miss Valera M. Kilp, Oshkosh

A municipal court jury yesterday afternoon awarded Miss Valera M. Kilp, Oshkosh, $5,799.25 in her $20,000 damage suit against Miss Elizabeth Krueger, Appleton, and the Car and General Insurance Corporation, Ltd. The jury deliberated about two hours.

Miss Kilp brought suit following an automobile accident in which she claimed she suffered a fractured dorsal vertebra and other injuries. She was an occupant of a car owned by Miss Krueger and driven by Don Martin, De Pere, when it went off Highway 29 near Bonduel on Nov. 26, 1937 and turned over.

The case opened before Judge Thomas H. Ryan last Thursday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hopfensperger, route 4, Appleton, Sunday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A daughter was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kersten, 219 DuCharme street, Kaukauna, at St. Elizabeth hospital. It was erroneously reported yesterday that a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kersten, route 1, Hortonville.

A daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, 607 W. College avenue at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Pfeifer of New London Gets M. A. Degree Today

New York.—(AP)—Sixty Wisconsin persons are included in the list of 4,626 degrees being given today by Columbia university at the annual commencement exercises. The outdoor ceremony at 6 p. m. will be witnessed by nearly 20,000.

Charles F. Pfeifer, New London, is one of the Wisconsin persons receiving a Master of Arts degree from the Columbia university teachers college.

Dealers, Producers in Milk Price Conference

A conference on milk prices was held between a committee representing milk dealers of Appleton and Neenah-Menasha and directors of the Fox River Valley Producers association last night at the courthouse.

No action was taken on the matter, but the representatives planned similar meetings for the future.

Postpone Claim Hearing Against Hatten Estate

Waukegan.—Hearing on a claim of Mrs. Beatrice Monsted, New London, against the estate of William H. Hatten, wealthy New London lumberman, was postponed in county court this morning until 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Monsted claims $25,000 on a note and $6,000 for board and lodging.

PROPOSE 'CLOVERLEAF' INTERSECTION FOR HIGHWAYS HERE

Considerable interest has been taken, it is said, in the proposal that some provision be made for minimizing or eliminating hazards at the intersections of Highways 10 and 41 near the county asylum, and of 41 and 47 just north of Appleton. It has been claimed that if these highways cross at grade, when Highway 41 is built through the asylum farm, that the possibility of accident will be even greater than Leppia's corners, the intersection of Highways 10 and 45, where there have been a number of fatalities and many less severe accidents.

It has been proposed that "cloverleaf" type of intersections be constructed at these new crossings, thereby removing practically all the hazard, because with this type of intersection there is no cross traffic. The picture above shows a "clover leaf" intersection and arrows indicate how traffic moves from one road to another. There is little loss of time and because there is no cross traffic, there is practically no hazard to automobilists.

Appleton School To Graduate 387 Pupils Thursday

Judge Ryan Is Speaker; Four Seniors to Discuss School Life

The largest class ever to be graduated from Appleton High school, 387 students, as well as the last to leave the old senior school building, will receive diplomas during commencement exercises at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Principal Judge Thomas H. Ryan will be the principal speaker. Featuring exercises this year will be a panel discussion on lessons in life learned during the 3-year term. Four outstanding seniors will take part in the discussion including Miss Lois Boon, Miss Anne Holtz, Kay Rogers and Dexter Wolfe. All were selected for membership in the National Honor society this year.

Activities Thursday will include presentation of awards at 11 o'clock in the morning at the high school auditorium, rehearsal for seniors at the chapel at 1:30 in the afternoon and the annual Senior Hop at the Riverview Country club in the evening.

Diplomas will be distributed by Homer H. Benton, a member of the board of education. Presentation of class will be made by H. H. Helbie, high school principal, and the group will be accepted by Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools. Invocation and benediction will be given by Robert K. Bell, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian church.

On the graduation program will be Jeanne Nuffer who will sing "The Star" and "Love's Echo," accompanied by Edward Mumm. A string ensemble composed of Ivis Boyer, Constance Clark, Erna Falk, Ruth Mewald, Edward Mumm and Kenneth Schmidt will play a selection from "The Emperor Quartet," by Haydn.

"Castilla," by Holmes, will be played by a brass sextet composed of Harold Ackert, John Eustner, John Kohl, Myrtle Lecker, Ellen Marty and Douglas White. Donald Gerlach, class of 1934, will play the recessional, a march entitled, "Sigurd Jorsalfar," by Grieg.

Downer College Girl to Study at Munich School

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Milwaukee Downer college announced today that Miss Hildegard Wallner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Adolf Wallner of Watertown, will take her junior year abroad.

A sophomore at Downer now, Miss Wallner will spend 15 months in Europe, where during the school year she will study at the University of Munich. The credits she earns will be applied toward her degree at Downer, to which she plans to return in her senior year. Miss Wallner's early childhood was spent with relatives in Germany.

Men Escape Injury in Crash Near New London

Two lone drivers escaped injury about noon today when their machines collided on Highway 45, about one mile south of New London.

The men were F. H. Sprenger, Marion, driving a beer truck, and Frank A. Lederle, Chicago. Sprenger was traveling north when the accident occurred and the Chicago man was going south.

Sprenger said his truck slewed on the wet pavement and that he lost control of the machine, as the collision occurred, he said, and the truck went on about 50 feet and turned completely over. Both machines were badly damaged.

Committee Approves 4 License Applications

Applications for two picnic and two operator's licenses were approved by the police and license committee yesterday. Duncan Suffers From Illness, 2 Doctors Testify found Mr. Duncan the result of illness or alcoholism," Dr. Lorenz answered.

"It could not be the aftermath of alcoholism," Dr. Lorenz answered.

Brazy then asked if it was his opinion Duncan had suffered an attack the night of the accident, but the court interposed.

Dr. Lorenz was on the witness stand at the noon recess.

Dr. Bleckwenn said the purpose of his examination was to determine whether there was any ailment of the head or brain which might have a bearing on the accident cause.

Previously, Dr. William Middleton, dean of the university medical school, had testified he found Duncan suffering hypertensive cardio-vascular disease. Bleckwenn said in effect his examination localized it. He determined, he said, the heart and kidneys were not responsible for the arterio-sclerotic ailment. He said he examined Duncan's retinal (eye) arteries and found a sclerotic (hardening) condition.

"I reached a conclusion Duncan suffered cerebral arterio-sclerosis, with high blood pressure and arterial spasms," he testified. "I concluded the brain was the seat of the arterio-sclerosis."

Such an ailment, he continued, may result in a sudden stroke; partial or permanent loss of vision; convulsions; and periods of mental confusion.

He explained that the spasms shut off the blood supply, without which the organs could not function. After the cramp in the artery eases, he added, the flow is resumed and normal functioning is restored.

Dr. Bleckwenn and Dr. Lorenz said they believed the ailment was of long standing.

"Is the rapid return to consciousness consistent with a disease of this kind?" Brazy asked.

"It is," Bleckwenn answered. He added that ordinarily acute alcoholism is not overcome as rapidly as the spasms he described.

Dr. William S. Middleton, dean of the University of Wisconsin Medical school, testified yesterday that Duncan suffered hypertensive cardio-vascular disease.

The dean said he reached this conclusion after examining Governor LaFollette's executive secretary in the Madison General hospital, to which Duncan went the day after the accident.

Medical Dean's Report

The examination disclosed, he said, high blood pressure, gall bladder inflammation, a little arthritis, an enlargement of liver, and a hardening of certain arteries.

"In my judgment the high blood pressure is chronic," Dr. Middleton said.

"Does he suffer Bright's disease?" asked Joseph Brazy of defense counsel.

"He does not."

Following Dr. Middleton to the stand, Dr. Mark Nesbit, an eye specialist on the university staff, told of examining Duncan's retinal arteries.

He said he found sclerosis (hardening) of the retinal arteries.

He testified arteries serving the eyes stem from those supplying blood to the brain. He detected spasms of these arteries, he added, and declared spasms so marked shut off the blood supply.

Tells of Ailment

This testimony was offered immediately after Duncan had told from the witness stand of suffering spells last fall which caused him to lose consciousness.

One of these overcame him while he was in the governor's office Oct. 16, he said. Duncan added that he came to an hour and a half later and couldn't understand how he had reached his hotel room.

Charles Kersten, assistant district attorney, cross-examined for 100 minutes. He centered his questioning on Duncan's declaration he could not recall what had taken place on the duet.

Duncan said he remembered leaving the tavern at Lake Mills where he had drunk two bottles of beer while enroute to Milwaukee. A short time later he experienced a sinking feeling and next became cognizant of what was going on when two policemen stopped his car in downtown Milwaukee.

He said he came to know what "was going on" after a police physician examined his eyes at headquarters. This was some time after his arrest.

Recalls Telephoning

"Do you recall telephoning to your wife?" Kersten asked.

"Yes," Duncan replied. "Do you recall now that you talked with Elmer Krahn (business manager of the Milwaukee Leader) on the telephone?"

"Yes."

"Then your bewilderment consisted chiefly of not knowing why you were being held?"

"I didn't know what it was all about."

"Is it correct that your mental state consisted of not knowing anything extraordinary had happened to you?"

"I didn't know what it was all about."

Kersten then switched to another line of questioning.

"When you entered the hospital you were feeling ill?"

"Thought He Was All Right"

"That's the funny part of it; I thought I was all right. I only went there after I talked with Gordon Sinykin (former secretary to the governor) and he told me I should find out what was wrong with me."

"On direct examination this morning you told of having two or

Clear Tomorrow, Weatherman Says

June Makes Debut With Spring Showers; 70 Degrees Here Today

June, the month of warm sun and bewitching breezes, splashed onto the stage today in a burst of rain.

The showers may recur tonight, but tomorrow will be fair, with cooler temperatures, the Milwaukee weather bureau stated today in its report for Appleton and vicinity.

Despite the rain and dark skies, temperatures were comparatively high today and the air "sticky." At 2 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent showed 70 degrees.

For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 79 and the lowest 64, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

Ariz., with 108, and Yellowstone, with 36, were the hottest and coldest places respectively in the nation yesterday.

Man Who Flew Prison Farm Faces New Charge

Superior.—(AP)—Theodore McAllister, 26, who police said escaped Monday from the state prison farm near McNaughton, was captured here yesterday by officers who asserted he was attempting to break into the rear of a theater.

McAllister waived preliminary hearing in municipal court on an attempted burglary charge and was bound over to superior court. Bond was set at $500.

McAllister was sentenced in Milwaukee in May, 1934, to three to eight years in state prison for burglary. He was removed to the prison farm because of good behavior.

more spells of complete lapse of memory," Kersten said.

"Yes," Duncan replied.

"Did you go to see a doctor after that?"

"No."

Kersten expressed surprise and Duncan said:

"I thought I knew what was the matter."

He explained he had had typhoid fever at one time and thought his heart was affected.

Returning to the events at police headquarters, Kersten asked:

"Remember talking with Lieutenant (Fred) Mleczeck?"

"I saw him and probably talked with him," Duncan replied.

"Remember Mleczeck told you had killed a man?"

"Sinking Feeling"

"After you left Lake Mills, where were you when you noticed the sinking feeling?"

"It must have been some distance from Lake Mills."

"So your mind is blank from the time you hit the outskirts of Milwaukee until you were stopped by the police?"

"Yes."

Kersten then read questions put to Duncan by Deputy Inspector Hugo Goehlen at police headquarters. To one, Duncan was alleged to have answered that he remembered being crowded by a truck on the viaduct.

Duncan said it was in his mind that a truck had forced him over but that he didn't know when it was.

"Have you now a recollection of being forced over by a truck?"

"Not now," Duncan replied. "But that was in my mind and I suppose it must have."

Sought To Be Helpful

"Do you now have any recollection as to the truth or falsity of your statements to Goehlen?"

"I tried to tell him everything I could," Duncan answered, adding he had wanted to be helpful and might have made answers on information elicited while under police questioning.

Duncan said he didn't recall saying, on March 10, he remembered scraping fenders with another car near a hospital east of the Schuette accident scene.

"Do you deny it?"

"Yes."

"Remember saying you wanted to pay your debt to society?"

"No."

"Do you deny it?"

"Yes."

"Isn't it a fact you were considering pleading guilty?"

"That is not true."

Safety Will be Cardinal Axiom at 'Swim School'

Safety will be the first thought of the four expert instructors in charge of the Appleton Post-Crescent Y. M. C. A. swimming school which will be held for Appleton children from 9 to 17 years of age in the "Y" pool June 6-25. Entry blanks, one of which is on this page, may be sent either to the "Y" or the Post-Crescent.

The classes will be numerous enough so that instructors can maintain careful watch over every child. And before the youngsters are sent into the pool, they will be cured of any fear of water they might have. The fun of swimming, the enjoyment and exercise that water offers, will be clearly portrayed to them in "land lectures" and demonstrations before actual swimming instruction begins.

The boys and girls will first work in the shallow end of the pool. Ray Risch, "Y" physical instructor and school manager, said today. Their first actual swimming will be the width of the pool, in water which is very shallow. Gradually, as their ability increases, they will move into water a little deeper, and will never be called upon to overtax themselves.

About 250 registrations have been received by Risch for the school. Later this week, the Post-Crescent will publish the names of all youngsters enrolled and in what classes they will receive instruction. About 1,000 are expected to attend the "learn to swim" school.

The young swimmers will have a chance to

HOLLYWOOD LIGHTS CAMERA ACTION! HAPPENINGS

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—The "tank" on the back lot is covered over with cloth to keep out the sunlight, and the cloth—hundreds of yards of it—billows and flaps loudly in the wind.

The "t a n k" is an oversized swimming pool, surrounded on three sides by a cyclorama of grey which substitutes admirably for far horizons in sea scenes. For waves gasoline motors on the far side, out of camera range, can churn up a stiff running surf.

The other day Loretta Young and David Niven, both fully clothed, spent hours being "dunked" after the collision of their sailboats. Joe McCrea, wearing beach robe, spent hours on a rocky, dry projection in the corner of the tank, all ready to help out in the rescue under William Suter's direction for "Three Blond Mice."

Preparations All Wet

By lunch-time the collision business, and the scene in which Loretta (Who really can't swim) knocks out Niven to lug him to shore had been finished. What had to be done in the afternoon was the scene in which Loretta and Niven crawl up on McCrea's rock.

Chlorine costumes—sailing duds—the pair descended gingerly from the rock into the water where several prop-men, in trunks, worked and swam. Niven dunked himself completely, his head emerging dripping. Loretta threw back her head to sop her hair thoroughly, and they were ready. Sitting on the rock, feet dangling in the water, both splashed water over themselves to stay dripping. There wasn't a hair-dresser in sight.

When they shot the scene, Loretta's hair was as stringy and wet as yours would be in the same situation. (They've stopped that business of half-drowned heroines coming up with permanent waves unmoistened.)

Moving The Rock

Then for a second "take" they wanted to move the rock, or the little rock beside the big one. This should have been a tough job: we waited around to see the fun. We pictured a half-dozen prop-men in there pushing and groaning. But what happened? They slung a long rope under the rock, did a little easy tugging—from the dry floor—and the heavy business glided along smoothly—on casters. (But it wasn't so heavy, at that—just a framework rock.)

All this time Loretta Young and David Niven stayed in the water, up to their chins—"We've got to," called Loretta, "we were freezing up there!"

Rolf Funeral Services Will Be Held Thursday

Little Chute—Mrs. Frank Rolf, 73, died Monday evening at her home here after a lingering illness. Survivors are her widower and one son, Bernard, of Kaukauna. Funeral services will be conducted at St. John church at 9 o'clock Thursday morning by the Rev. John J. Sprangers. Burial will take place in St. Francis cemetery, West Holland. The decedent was born in West Holland, May 15, 1865, and had been a resident of this village for about 10 years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Van Gompel, 76, who died Thursday at her home here after an illness of several weeks were conducted at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. John church. Solemn requiem high mass was sung by the Rev. John J. Sprangers assisted by the Rev. James Geyer and the Rev. Theodore Verbeten of Elcho. The members of the St. Elizabeth society of St. John church, of which the decedent was a member, attended the funeral in a body. Burial took place in the parish cemetery. Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Henry Verbeten, Little Chute, and two sons John and Anton, both of Little Chute; one brother, George Vandenberg of Kimberly.

Group Names Sunday National Safety Day

A nation-wide Safety day campaign will be conducted Sunday, June 5, under the auspices of the National Fraternal Congress, it was announced today by D. W. Dunham, Wisconsin committee representative and head of the Equitable Reserve association, Neenah.

James G. Daly, Columbus, Ohio, is chairman of the special committee in charge of the activity. A bulletin sent to members throughout the country emphasizes that the national accident bill last year was more than 3½ billion dollars, that accidents took 106,000 lives and injured more than a million and a quarter persons. Safety will be promoted on the day set aside by the congress.

Minister Tells Rotarians War Is 'Silly and Stupid'

Scores Munitions Makers And Others Who Help Promote War

Terming war "utterly silly and unemotionally stupid," Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, at a meeting of the Appleton Rotary club yesterday, scored munitions makers and all others who have anything to do with the promotion of war.

Dr. Culver opposed war for any reason, opposed increasing navy tonnage on the grounds that it meant preparation for war, scored high tariffs and suggested taking the glory out of war as a means of preventing conflict.

"The soldiers who fought in the World war were duped and betrayed and all of their sacrifices were in vain," the speaker said. He maintained that munitions manufacturers were the only true internationalists that it didn't make any difference to them who they sold ammunition to as long as they sold it.

The minister charged that during the World war, England sold some of the necessities of war to Germany so that the conflict could be carried on against her own soldiers and that "several times during the war, munitions dumps on both sides could have been blown to bits but they were not because it would have taken some of the profit from the promoters."

Nationalize Munitions

"When we nationalize the manufacture of munitions, we will have taken a step toward the prevention of war," Dr. Culver maintained.

Dr. Culver told rotarians that it cost $25,000 to kill each boy who lost his life during the war. While the soldier received $1 a day to risk his life in the trenches, many new

Vike Tracksters First at State College Tournament

Captain Sam Leete Is High Scorer With 17 Points*FIVE RECORDS SET*Three Established and Another Tied by Lawrence

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
WAUKESHA—Lawrence college track and field squad closed the 1938 season here yesterday afternoon when it captured first honors in the much delayed state college tournament. Lawrence amassed a total of 821 points which was just exactly the total of Beloit, Carroll and Ripon, the other entrants. The Gold had 41 points, the Orange 34, and the Crimson 74.

Originally scheduled for last Saturday afternoon, the meet was postponed to Tuesday because of a wet, soggy track. And yesterday when the Vikes arrived just after noon all primed to get started, they learned that Beloit and Coach Louis Means couldn't get around until about 3 o'clock. As a result the Vikes sat around in the shade in sweat suits and studied whenever they could get in a few minutes, and otherwise worked up their ire over Mr. Means' favorite trick of arriving late.

The conference tennis meet again was postponed yesterday out of deference to Beloit. It probably will be held Saturday.

Closes Great Season
Yesterday's win in state college circles gave the Vikes something of a grand slam for the season in regular events. They annexed victories in all dual meets, won the Midwest crown for the first time in Lawrence history and took the third straight state college title. In the Beloit relay the Vikes took second honors.

Five records went by the boards during the afternoon and Lawrence figured in three of them and literally brought about the fourth. Still another record was tied by the Vikings.

Captain Sam Leete of Lawrence, who led the individual scorers with three firsts and a third for 17 points, set a new high jump record, Joe Graf a new record in the 220-yard dash, Junior Kapp a new record in the 440-yard dash and the Vike half mile relay team tied the record for that event. Joe Bowles of Beloit set a new broad jump record and Art Buck of Carroll a new 440-yard dash mark.

Buck can thank Ken Buesing of Lawrence for his record in the 440 for he had to battle the Viking runner every step of the last 220 yards and just sneaked across the tape a winner. Buesing's time also was better than the record for the event.

880 Also Thrilled

Another thrilling race was the half mile which went to Buck but not until he came from behind to nose out Tut Grode of Lawrence. And Grode had the satisfaction of beating out Brown of Beloit, his arch rival of the season. The three runners staged a terrific battle with only a few inches separating them as they crossed the line.

Although Beloit originally was doped to give Lawrence a battle, the Gold never threatened and the meet resolved itself into a duel between Carroll and Beloit for second and third honors. Joe Bowles was most of the Beloit track team and competed in the hurdles, high and broad jump and the javelin. He annexed 134 points. Buck was high scorer for Carroll with 10 points.

Going over the events they went something like this:

100-yard dash—Joe Graf, Lawrence, won the short dash in 10.1 seconds by a margin of two yards. However, there are several persons who'll give him credit for a new mark for he was clocked at 9.8 and 9.9 by two other watches. Gates, Beloit, was second, Vande Walle, Lawrence, third, and Sauer, Beloit, fourth. Cochran qualified for Lawrence but pulled up lame in the heat and trailed in the final.

High jump—Sam Leete, Lawrence, made 6 feet, 11 inches for a new record on his final jump and took first place. Leete held the old mark, 6 feet, 11 inch, Jack Crawford, Lawrence, tied Joe Bowles, Beloit, for second and third, two

Lawrence college track squad turned on the power yesterday afternoon at Waukesha and walked off with first honors. The Vikes scored 821 points or as many as Beloit, Carroll and Ripon together. In the top picture is the Lawrence half mile relay team which tied the record set by that great Vike team of 1928. The men are, left to right, Evan Vande Walle, Wallie Cape, Charles Garlach and Joe Graf. The latter won first in the 100, first and set a record in the 200, and was fourth in the broad jump.

The picture just above shows the finish of one of the best races of the day, the 440. Art Buck, Carroll, has just hit the tape for a record with Ken Buesing, Lawrence, a half stride behind. Buck knocked 2 second off the record and Buesing's position would indicate his time was at least a tenth of a second better than the mark.

At the left Captain Sam Leete is breasting the tape after winning the high hurdles with little difficulty. Leete was high point man for the Vikes with firsts in the two hurdles, a first and a record in the high jump, and a third in the broad jump. He totaled 17 points. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Think Armstrong Wasn't Hitting as Hard in Bout

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(P)—The surprise of it was that Ross stayed as long as he did. . . To many it looked like Armstrong wasn't hitting as hard as he did to mow down Petey Sarron and some of his more recent opponents. . . Jim Braddock sat at the ringside and pulled hard for Barney, although he admitted Ross was on his way out before the fight was half through. . . The fact that Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee home run knocker, was with Braddock and Joe Gould gave rise to fresh rumors that Gould is handling "Der Mag's" business affairs. . . Fresh denials followed.

Mayor Hague of Jersey City sat at the ringside—surrounded by New York detectives. . . Mike Jacobs, busy as he was, stopped to do a little business on the side. . . He accepted a check for $250 from former champion Gene Tunney for tickets to the Louis-Schmeling brawl later in the month. . . The first two heats produced some of the fastest, fiercest fighting New York audiences have been treated to in years. . . Even before the crowd filled out of the arena, bets were being made that Ambers would stop Armstrong if they get together for Lou's lightweight title.

A guard tried to stop Mike Jacobs at one of the side gates. . . "I'm just the guy who runs the 'joint,'" Mike said. . . "I don't care if you're the king of England; you don't get through without a pass," said the guard. . . "Fire this bird," roared Mike to an inspector, "he wouldn't let me in." . . A moment later he returned and said: "Don't fire the guy; if he won't let me in, he won't admit the phoney's."

Ival Goodman has led the Reds in being hit by pitched balls every year since he joined the club. . . Bob Pastor averaged $3,000 each for his three fights in the west. . . The Phils have three young pitchers seven on other National league clubs would like to grab.

Bang's boxing record has hit the newsstands with dope on all the leading fighters right up to May 15. . . Maurice Waxman and Charlie Vackner have turned out a neat piece of work. . . They're already making reservations for the all-star game in Cincinnati, July 6. . . The 800 tournaments to be staged this year by the National semi-pro baseball congress will use up 115,200 horsehoes.

St. Joseph in 4-1 Diamond Win

Defeats St. Mary of Kaukauna in Catholic Boys Conference

Collecting six hits, St. Joseph school of Appleton defeated St. Mary of Kaukauna, 4-1, yesterday afternoon in a Catholic Boys conference game at Jones park.

St. Mary scored its only run in the first inning. Vandelen was walked, reached second on a wild pitch, went to third on an infield out, and scored when Ranquette doubled to center field.

The Appleton team came back to tie the score in the same inning. Selig cracked a three-bagger and then scored when the pitcher threw over the catcher's head. In the fourth, Griesbach singled, stole second and scored on Gage's single.

St. Joseph clinched the game in the fifth. Reiter tripling to bring in Gonnerting and Selig.

Roberts Collects $31,000 for First In 500-Mile Race

Indianapolis—(P)—Chunky Floyd Roberts, the Van Nuys, Calif., daredevil who had to be persuaded to drive the car that won the 26th Memorial day 500-mile speedway classic, was $31,950 richer today.

He collected his winnings, contained in 39 checks, at the annual victory dinner sponsored, last night, by the speedway corporation.

"When Lou Moore first talked to me about driving his car, I told him I didn't think a car without a supercharger could get any place in the Indianapolis race," he said.

Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis collected checks totaling $14,450 for finishing second in the grand, while Chet Miller of Detroit, in third place, received $7,300.

Then down the list, in order of their finish, came Ted Horn of Los Angeles, who pocketed $4,600; Chet Gardner, Long Beach, Calif., $4,100; Herb Ardinger, Pittsburgh, $2,623; Harry MacQuinn, Milwaukee, $2,175; Billy Devore, St. John, Kas., $1,923; Joel Thorne, Tucson, Ariz., $1,775; and Frank Wearne, Pasadena, Calif., $1,650. Every starting driver got at least $500.

TOWN Taxi softballers knocked Forster Taverns out of a first place tie in American City league standings when they defeated the tavern squad, 2 to 0, in a close game at Pierce park diamond last evening. Sonny Filz hurled for the winners and fanned eight men while allowing but two hits and passing one batter. Swamp teed the rubber for the losers and gave four hits while whiffing five opponents and walking four.

Town Taxis scored their two runs in the fourth frame when Grunert walked and went to second on a wild pitch. Selig walked and Grunert went to third when Neil Davidson fled out to centerfield. Selig stole second and the two base runners scored when a hit by Krause took a bad hop over the third baseman's head. O. Kirk was credited with two doubles for the losers.

Three Qualify to Represent State In National Open

Milward, Jacobs and Krueger Will Enter Tournament

MADISON—(P)—Jim Milward, Madison professional, Burleigh Jacobs, Westmoor amateur of Milwaukee and Alvin Krueger, Beloit pro, will represent the Wisconsin district in the national open golf championship at the Cherry Hills golf course in Denver June 9-11.

The trio took low scores in the qualifying rounds held at the Nakoma country club here yesterday. Milward, who carded a 144 for 36 hole distance, was two over par. Jacobs was next in line with a 147 and Krueger took third with a 148.

Francis Gallett, Blue Mound professional from Wauwatosa had a 148 but declined to go to the national tournament, thereby giving Krueger the berth and eliminating a playoff.

Starts Out Fast
Krueger started out in fast fashion carding a 70 for the first 18 holes but bogged on the afternoon round to barely qualify. His 70 was the lowest score registered. In the opening round, the Beloit pro carded seven birdies.

Twenty-three entries teed off in the morning, two dropped by the wayside at the close of the first round and Arthur Adams, Oconomowoc amateur, failed to put in an appearance.

WEST'S YEAR
New York—(P)—It's the west's year in the national open golf championship.

Not only will the tournament be played in the west for the first time—at Denver's Cherry Hills club June 9-11—but golfers from beyond the Mississippi dominated yesterday's sectional qualifying tests.

They had a greater representation than ever before in the history of the tourney, more qualifying places to win among the 141 who were open to more than 1,000 contestants, and they did it with better scores.

All but the 29 players exempted because of last year's performances had to do their qualifying shooting at 31 centers yesterday. Barring a few who decided not to try their luck, there were 1,194 of them.

Westland Low

When results were tabulated, Jack Westland, former Chicago amateur star who now does his playing around Seattle, led all the rest. He shot 69-68-137, nine under par. One stroke higher were the Los Angeles leaders, Olin Dutra, 1934 open champion, and Charles Lagev, and Francis Scheider of Oklahoma City.

Another top-flight pro, Horton Smith, put Chicago into the low score bracket with 70-69-139 but even that figure was equaled by Mark Fey of Oakland, Calif., and Ed Kingley, Magna, Utah, amateur, who led the fields at San Francisco and Salt Lake City.

San Francisco also was the scene of the most remarkable failure. The great Walter Hagen, who's been making a golf ball bet since many of the qualifiers were infants and who won the open twice, found himself six strokes out of the running. Hagen, just back from a world golfing tour, had rounds of 73 and 73 for 151.

GAME CALLED—DUST
Garden City, Kas.—(P)—The dust bowl is living up to its name. A recent Ban Johnson baseball league game here got so far as the fourth inning when everybody hurried for shelter and the umpire announced postponement. The reason? "You guessed it—a dust storm."

Lou Gehrig Hates to Miss Even an Exhibition Tilt

BY DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK—(P)—Thirteen years ago today, June 1, 1925, Jack Dempsey was heavyweight champion, Charlie Paddock was the world's fastest human, people were talking about Rogers Hornsby, Flying Ebony, the Four Horsemen and the Dolly sisters—and a local player named Henry Louis Gehrig was a pinch-hit for Pee Wee Wanninger of the Yanks. The next day he replaced Wally Pipp at first base.

He is still there. He was there yesterday, playing his 2,000th consecutive game, helping the Yanks beat Boston. He will be there tomorrow. He is as much a part of the Yanks as the stadium.

Consider the starts and stops, the throws and slides, the hot days, and the cold ones, 2,000 is a lot of ball games. But Gehrig doesn't think it has done him any harm.

Hitting Now
"If I'm out of even an exhibition game, I'm nervous," he says. "Some of the fellows tell me to take a couple of days off. I'd burn up more energy doing nothing, fishing, or hunting, than I would playing ball."

If the strain was going to tell me it would have told the last two years, wouldn't it?" Lou asked. "Well, I hit ten and seven points over my lifetime average (.344) in 1936 and 1937. I didn't hit early this season but I'm hitting now."

Lou has seen a couple of generations of ballplayers come and go. Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson, Eddie Collins and Grover Cleveland Alexander were around when he broke in. He played in the shadow of his idol, Babe Ruth, for 10 years, then emerged to be recognized as the greatest first baseman of his time, perhaps of all time.

Biggest Thrill
His biggest thrill? The home run he hit off Carl Hubbell in the World series of 1936. That bats even the time he walloped four home runs in one game.

There are a lot of things to say about Gehrig: his 1,897 runs batted in, the drive in 1934 in one year for the league record, 469 homers, second only to Ruth's 714; his 1,138 extra-base hits.

But the best thing anyone ever said about him was Mickey Cochrane's answer, when someone asked him what one player he would take to build a ball club around. "Gehrig," said Mike, "who else is there?"

BOXING
Chicago—Milt Aron, 147, Dubuque, Iowa, outpointed Bobby Pachio, 146, El Centro, Calif., (10).

Los Angeles—Charlie Coates, 169, Akron, Ohio, knocked out Chester Parks, 160, Los Angeles, (2).

Elizabeth, N. J.—John Morschink, 210, Elizabeth, technically knocked out Leo Brown, 205, Orange, N. J. (4). Eddie Chesney, 150, Elizabeth, knocked out Buddy Skidmore, 150, Elizabeth, (3).

Montreal—Dave Castilloux, 130, Montreal, outpointed Danny London, 126, New York, (10).

Armstrong New Welterweight Champ; Guns For Ambers

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK.—If you see a little blond man running today like his coat-tails were on fire and glancing back fearfully over his left shoulder every now and then, the odds are you are looking at Lou Ambers, the lightweight boxing champion, who agreed in a moment of aversion to fight Henry Armstrong this coming July.

Lou, no doubt has heard how Armstrong beat Barney Ross into a bleeding, stricken pulp in 15 rounds last night at Madison Square Garden in a bout to add Barney's welterweight championship to the featherweight crown he already held.

The consensus of those who sat through the slow, agonizing destruction of Ross, one of the truly great little fighters of the decade, was that Ambers had a similar fate in store as soon as he faced the relentless Los Angeles Negro.

Northern State League Gossip

NELLO PACETTI, former Wisconsin star, was about the whole show in the game he pitched and won for Manitowoc 6-0 over Seymour, Decoration day. Pacetti allowed but three hits. He got two bingles himself, one of which was a homer.

New London finished up the Memorial day week-end by dipping Clintonville in the whitewash bucket, 3-0. This victory put the High Lifes in second place in the league standings with three victories and a lone defeat.

Green Bay pitched everybody but President Joe Clausman in a futile attempt to stop Kimberly. The Papermakers had their batting togs on and hammered out a 10-6 victory over the 1937 pennant winners.

Al Bauers twirled the first victory of the season for Kaukauna at Two Rivers. The chunky righthander kept the Veterans' 10 safeties well scattered while Kaukauna made good use of its four blows to triumph, 2-1.

The Northern State leaguers will hold their June meeting Thursday night at Manitowoc. Harry Kalles, head of the Shipbuilders, will be host and he promises his guests an enjoyable evening at the Hotel Manitowoc confab.

Kaukauna and Seymour have switched their June dates as a celebration in the Electric City made the change advisable. The Mellow Brews will play at Seymour on June 12 while Row and company are to invade Kaw-town June 19.

The first night games of the Northern State league season are booked for June 15. Manitowoc invades Green Bay. New London travels to Kaukauna while Kimberly will be at home to Eddie Raab's Two Rivers' aggression.

Lefty Fortin who has been pitching baseball around these parts for years, made a successful 1938 debut for Two Rivers by twirling the Vets to a 3-2 win over Manitowoc. The portside hurler shut-out ball after the first frame.

It took Leroy Arnes, Green Sox slasher, one inning to find the plate in the Kaukauna fracas but the big fellow got his bearings, only allowed two bingles and the Bays triumphed over their bitter rivals by a 4-1 count.

There are still some hits in the Lamers' family as Jack, the Kimberly backstop, banged one over the fence in the Clintonville game with two on. It was a futile effort, however, because the Truckers coped with the verdict, 10-4.

It was a jubilant crowd of New London rooters who wended their way homeward from Seymour after Polaske and company had chalked up a 4-1. The High Lifes made the best of their several opportunities to chase runs home.

The Northern State league can lay claim to being one of the best dressed baseball circuits in Badgerdom. Six of the teams are togged out in new uniforms besides having loud-colored jackets which help to dress up the picture.

There will be a lot of fur flying around the loop next Sunday as Green Bay plays in Manitowoc; Kaukauna is at home to Clintonville. Two Rivers goes to New London while Kimberly is billed for a Seymour appearance.

It is seldom that a catcher bats first but Edo Pupeter, the Two Rivers' receiver, is such a good lead-off man that he has topped the batting order for several seasons and is continuing to 'break the ice' for the Vets again this year.

Ford and Farina, a pair of Whitewater coaches, are college stars, have been added to the Clintonville front bench. Farina, who is playing center field, is said to be quite a footballer and that the Chicago Bears have made him an offer.

Shortstop McCambridge of Manitowoc, who is a relative of Connie Mack manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is playing sterling ball. This is Mack's second season with the Ship and he is vavoring around like a veteran.

One of the bright spots of the Kaukauna club is Third Baseman Zelinski who is blessed with one of the best arms in the circuit. He has a bullet-like peg across the diamond and seldom misses his target. Baldy Egert, at first.

When Bob McLean, Green Sox backstop for six years decided to play elsewhere this season, Bay fans worried about the catching job but they have changed their tune as both Milt Simons and Johnny Setrich are going great behind the log.

Milwaukee—Traveling thousands of miles to star with the Marquette university tennis team, Jimmy Cheng Tsingtau, China, is the find of the year on Coach Louis Rechy's net squad. Cheng is especially formidable as a doubles player.

IF BARNEY HAD CONNECTED—

It was in the first round of his championship fight with Henry Armstrong that Barney Ross missed with this haymaker, which the dusky challenger ducked. Shortly after this was taken Henry started doing the swinging and Barney couldn't duck all of his punches, with the result he took a terrific beating and lost his welterweight championship to Armstrong after 15 rounds of fighting in Madison Square Garden Bowl.

Lou Gehrig Completes 2,000th Straight Tilt For New York Yankees

NEW YORK.—If Iron Hoss Lou Gehrig galloped past the 2,000 consecutive game mark in the greatest endurance record in sports Tuesday and the Yankees celebrated with a lopsided 12 to 5 victory over Boston's staggering Red Sox.

Every regular in the Yankee lineup hit at least once in the 16 hit attack the world champions fired at the three Sox hurlers, but the players who took the smallest active part in the celebration was Lou himself.

Henrich Hits One
Tommy Henrich hit his sixth homer; Bill Dickey contributed his fifth; Red Rolfe lined his second into the right field stands, and Billy Knickerbocker belted out a triple, double and two singles in the Yankees attack.

Meantime, all Lou was able to do was connect for a fluke single that bounced past second base in the eighth inning. Otherwise, except for CONGREGATIONAL softballers trounced the Evangelical squad, 19 to 3, in a Church league game at Roosevelt school diamond last evening while a postponed tilt between Presbyterian and First English Lutheran was called at the end of the eighth frame because of darkness when the teams were deadlocked at 8 and 8.

Rule clouted a circuit blow for the Congo team while Furminger collected four hits out of five times at bat. Congo had nine runs before Evangelicals struck pay dirt. F. Schwandt was the winning pitcher while Haase hurled for the losers.

Oliver hit a home run with two men on base as Presbyterian started fast with five runs in the first inning. The team added one in the fifth while First English Lutheran counted twice in the first frame, once in the second, took the lead with four runs in the fifth and scored once in the sixth. Presbyterian knotted the count with two runs in the seventh inning.

French-Bred Horse Wins English Derby

Epsom, Eng.—Bois Roussel, French-bred horse owned by P. Beatty, today won the 159th derby, beating the king and queen and some 40,000 of their subjects.

Scottish Union, owned by J. V. Rank, was second and H. E. Morris' heavily played favorite, Pasch, third in the field of 22 three-year-olds.

Bois Roussel came with a rush in the stretch to finish the mile and a half four lengths in front of Scottish Union, one of the more heavily played horses. Pasch, unbeaten in his only two races, trailed by another two lengths after figuring prominently with the leaders from the start.

Ridden by C. Elliott, Bois Roussel ran the distance in two minutes, 39.1-5 seconds.

Bois Roussel was a 20 to 1 shot in the betting. Scottish Union was held at 8 to 1 and Pasch at 9 to 4. Found Foolish, owned by Lord Ashtor, was fourth.

Greenville Jrs. Take Loop Lead

Beat Dale and Shiocton in Games Sunday and Monday

Greenville Merchant Juniors won two games over the holidays and moved into lone possession of first place in the Outagamie county Junior league standings. In one game the Merchants walloped Dale 17 to 3 and in the other upset Shiocton, 4 to 3. The Merchants and Shiocton were tied previous to Monday's game.

Against Dale the Merchants collected 21 hits to Dale's 7. Dale had five errors and the Merchants fanned 11 and Kaufman of Dale fanned 12. Sager, Meyer, Ziegler and L. Schroeder of the Merchants hit doubles and Schroeder a triple.

In the Merchant-Shiocton game, Conlon worked for Shiocton and fanned 15 and allowed 8 hits. L. Schroeder tossed for Greenville and allowed six hits and fanned seven. Withuhn of Shiocton hit a double and a homer. Meyer of Greenville got a triple.

Next Sunday the Merchants will play the Grange on the Merchant diamond. H. Meltz probably will be at short for the Merchants.

Milwaukee Brewers Tangle With Indians

Indianapolis.—Whether the old rule that the lowly second division clubs knock off the leaders is still operative supplied an important question for two American association clubs today.

And Indianapolis, paradoxically, both hopes it is and hopes it isn't.

The Indians, just a half game behind the leading Kansas City Blues, were to face the sixth place Milwaukee Brewers tonight. Hence, they hoped the rule did not hold. At the same time, the Blues were scheduled to meet Louisville under the Fall City lights. And the Indians had hopes the tail enders would halt the blues.

Other games on the schedule were Minneapolis at Toledo and St. Paul at Columbus.

Vike Track Team Takes 1st Honors At College Meet inches under Leete's mark. They failed on the height Sam made. Pray, Ripon, and Woleben, Beloit, tied for fourth.

Discus — Kapp tossed the discus 141 feet, 5 1/2 inches for a new record but was rather disgusted with his form and efforts. He bettered John Vogel's old mark of 130 feet, 10 1/2 inches. Hamacheck, Beloit, was second, and Wolf and Scheu, Carroll, third and fourth respectively.

Leete Take Highs

High hurdles — Sam Leete, Lawrence, won the high hurdles in a walk. Bowles was second, Crawford, Beloit, third and Beggs, Carroll, fourth. The time was 15.2 seconds. Stevens failed to qualify for the Vikes.

Half mile—Another of the thrilling races of the afternoon. Grode trailed at the start, moved up on the back stretch and took the lead. He held it and kept Buck, Carroll, a respectable distance in the rear until the final 150 yards when Buck and Brown, Beloit, began to move up. Then began as terrific a struggle as the meet saw. Buck had just enough sprint left to nose out Grode by inches with Brown finishing third, inches behind Grode. Knight, Ripon, was fourth. The time was 2 minutes, 3 seconds, indicating that the runners all were slowed down by battles in former events. Grode in the mile, Buck and Brown in the quarter.

Pole vault — Knoblauch, Carroll, and Oakes, Carroll, tied for first at 11 feet, 6 inches. Rettor, Beloit, Ruc, Beloit and Catlin, Lawrence, tied for third and fourth. They failed on the winning height, Catlin competing despite a twisted ankle.

220-yard dash — Joe Graf set a record in the 220 with 22 seconds even. The old mark was Doug Hildebrand and was 22.2 seconds. Grode went after the mark after he nosed out of the century record and finished far ahead. Gates, Beloit, was second, Vande Walle, Lawrence, third and Gerlach, Lawrence, fourth. It was another instance where Coach Art Denney tossed in all his talent to grab as many points as possible.

Sheldon Wins Two-Mile

Sheldon — Clarence Sheldon pounded to a victory in the two mile run in 10 minutes, 40.4 seconds. He never was pressed and finished strong. Mulherin, Carroll, was second but just managed to stay in the race. Hempel, Carroll, was third and Bagby, Carroll, fourth. Hempel ran a cockeyed race. Sometimes he was last, sometimes third, then he'd fall back and then sprint again and if he'd had another 100 yards to his final sprint would have given him second.

Low hurdles — Leete and Bowles again staged a battle in the lows but about two-thirds the way down the track Bowles again folded and Leete went on to win. Bowles was second. Stevens garnered a third for Lawrence while Beggs, Carroll, was fourth. The time was 24.6 seconds, slow because both the leaders had been working hard all afternoon.

Broad jump — Bowles won the broad jump for Beloit with 22 feet, 8 inches and a record, but Lawrence got the most points when Vande Walle was second, Leete third and Graf fourth. Vande went 21 feet, 4 1/2 inches. Leete 21 feet, 3 1/2 inches and Graf 21 feet even. It was another example of Viking power.

Javelin — Bob Osborn, Lawrence, won the javelin with a mere 164 feet, 1 inch. Rock, Ripon was second. Bowles, Beloit, third and Burton, Lawrence, fourth.

Half mile relay — The Lawrence team of Vande Walle, Cape, Gerlach and Graf tied the record of 1 minute, 31.5 seconds set by the Lawrence team of 1928 which featured the Hyde boys. Beloit was second, Carroll third and Ripon fourth. The race brought out something of the spirit in the Vike squad. Buesing originally was slated to run but the boys got together and Buesing withdrew in favor of Walle Cape who needed the extra win a letter. All of which left him about the happiest guy on the field.

The evening's meal — Lawrence ran a bad third in this event with Ripon's heavy eaters getting to the restaurant first, Beloit second and when the Vikes arrived there wasn't any room and they had to go elsewhere.

Students Receive Letters, Awards in Assembly Program

Arlene Pribbernow, Richard Thorn Eligible For Scholarships

New London—Presentation of many letter awards and trophies at a general assembly yesterday morning concluded the school year at Washington High school. All school teachers checked out during the day, many leaving at once for their homes in other cities.

By virtue of their high scholastic records, Arlene Pribbernow and Richard Thorn are two New London graduates eligible for scholarships to the University of Wisconsin and to other schools next fall, it was announced by H. H. Helms, superintendent of schools. Each were awarded a year's free subscription to the Reader's Digest.

Maurice Levine, a sophomore, was presented with the all-school honor cup for the year 1937-1938, having the highest average grade in the largest number of subjects in addition to extra-curricula work. Eugene Hotchkiss, a junior, received honorable mention as runner up.

The school spirit cup was won by the junior class, the same group that won it last year. Points are determined by membership and standing in various activities. The winners had 225 points, seniors were second with 215, sophomores third with 207 and freshmen last with 152.

Gift to School

The senior class gift, a 3-band radio receiver with electric phonograph attachment, was formally presented to the school by Anita Brault, president of the class. The radio will be used for educational and entertainment purposes. George Demming and Lee Smith demonstrated the equipment.

The freshmen class won the Thespian 1-act play contest under the direction of Ethel Knapstein and Warren Spurr. The play was "Buddy Buys an Orchid" with Helen Moede, Dick Wyman, Dick Demming, Betty Brown and Doris Plowman in the cast. The senior play took second, the sophomores placed third and the juniors last. Faculty judges of the series were Miss Alice Howard, Miss Anne Halsor and E. N. Calef.

Patricia Chegwin was presented with a trophy cup for winning a place in the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association state radio speaking contest.

American Legion medals were awarded to five members of the Boys Intramural Athletic association, one to a member of each class and one senior all-time winner. The medals are awarded by the Norris-Spencer post to the boys who amass the greatest number of points in their class during the year, participation and sportsmanship counting as well as athletic ability.

Presents Medals

Dr. M. A. Borchardt, adjutant of the American Legion, personally presented the medals to Eugene Eggers, senior winner with 426 points; Harold Bermann, junior, 448 points; William Krause, sophomore, 517 points; Dick Demming, freshman, 386 points. Evan Stern won the all-time medal with a total of 822 points for the two years the system has been in operation.

The Legion medals replace letter awards in the B, I. A. A. and ribbons are distributed to all members of the winning team in each class league. Letters earned by members of the Girls Athletic association were distributed to Albertine Zeacul, Betty Wells, Marie Rohan, Anita Blissett, Corinne Bunke, Millie Blissett, Mabel DeYoung and Helen Davy.

51 Music Letters

Fifty-one letters were distributed to music students. Twenty-eight letters in vocal work. Nine of those also earned letters in band work but received recognition in only one phase of the work. Rating certificates were issued to all who took part in the district solo and ensemble music festival here.

Receiving band letters were 15 seniors: Harold Black, Millicent Blissett, Emery Danke, Helen Davy, George Demming, Veronica Fleas, Melvin Gorges, Harold Gottgetreu, Clifford Hutchison, Edwards, Krings, Henry McDaniel, Jean Talady, Lois Vandenberg, Winston Wells, Iona Zempel; 13 juniors, Patricia Chegwin, John Crain, Mary Dawson, Audrey Dean, Valda Gehrke, Polley Hartquist, Jane Huebner, Marjorie Miller, Delbert Otis, Gertrude Ploetz, Angeline Runge, Orville Sanders, Edith St. George; six sophomores, John Calef, Patricia Egan, Wilma Dodge, Wallace Keellogg, Helen Schoenrock, Jack Seering.

At least three years participation earned a letter in vocal work only for Gertrude Backes, Mary Backes, Evelyn Fritz, Alice Kusserow, Marjorie Lathrop, Arline Queeman, Doris Ransom, Elaine Saindon, Orrella Saindon, Bernadine Southard, Sylvia Seefeld, Ethel Stichtman, Vera Walstrom, Helena Wangelin, Valeria Wangelin, Betty Wells, Phyllis Young.

Foreign letters were won by Maurice Levine, Alice Stanley, Jeanne Fox, Alan Fonstad, Polley Hartquist, Richard Demming, Helen Moede, Shirley Fonstad, Harry Herres and Warren Spurr. Also presented by H. H. Brockhaus were eight dramatic letters to Ruth Sawall, Kathleen Smith, Mary Dawson, Ethel Knapstein, Alan Fonstad, Robert Wilkinson, Douglas Hanson and Ruth Hanson.

Older Men's Softball League Will Be Formed

New London—Organization of an Older Men's softball league will take place at a meeting of team representatives at Washington High school tomorrow evening, according to R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. A well organized loop is planned if all interested groups turn out. Play probably will begin next week.

The Older Men's league is open to all men over 30 years of age or those under 30 without much softball experience.

New London Track Squad to Show at Port Washington

Teams Will Be Entered in Varsity, Freshman-Sophomore Divisions

New London—A squad of 26 New London High school track men will travel to Port Washington Saturday to participate in an invitational meet there. Teams will be entered in two divisions, a varsity and a freshman-sophomore meet. Coach D. N. Stacy held time try-outs for the freshmen and sophomores yesterday afternoon and selected 14 to make the trip.

The New London varsity will be in competition with Hartford, West Bend, Horicon, Oconomowoc and Port Washington while the freshmen-sophomore team will compete with Hartford, West Bend, Plymouth, Kiel, Valders and Port Washington.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning team in each division, also for the winning relay team in each. Individual awards will be given in all events. Five places will be counted in computing team points.

Leave Saturday Morning

The meets are scheduled to start at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and the New London boys will leave by school bus Saturday morning. The team will continue practice each afternoon this week.

Entered in the freshmen-sophomore meet are the following: 100-yard, Robert Nelson, Kenneth Ross, Ben Huzzar; 220-yard, Nelson, Huzzar; 440-yard, Robert Mavis, Harold Puse, Louis Bellie; 880-yard, Ross, Gordon Meiklejohn; mile, Marvin Sommers, Jack Dent; high hurdles, Bernard Freiburger, Kenneth Poppy; low hurdles, Freiburger, Poppy and Dave Stern; broad jump, Ross, Bellie, Puse; high jump, Poppy, Meiklejohn, Puse; pole vault, Stern, Puse; shot put, Ray Baerwald, Wallace Hammerberg, Huzzar; discus, Baerwald, Hammerberg; relay, Nelson, Ross, Huzzar, Freiburger.

On the varsity lineup are: 100-yard, Wilkinson; 220-yard, Wilkinson, Meinhardt, Gottgetreu; 440-yard, Monroe, Harold Black; mile, Schmidt; high and low hurdles, Don Stern, Hoier; broad jump, Meinhardt, Monroe, Bernie Stern; high jump, Hoier, Schmidt; pole vault, Bernie Stern, Evan Stern; shot put and discus, Dobberstein, Meshnick; relay, Wilkinson, Meinhardt, Gottgetreu, D. Stern.

New London Society

New London—Ten tables of cards were played at the public party of the Rebekah lodge at the Odd Fellows hall yesterday afternoon. Prizes in five hundred were won by Mrs. E. L. Surprise and Mrs. C. L. Farrell; at bridge by Mrs. Roy Queeman and Mrs. William Anson; at schafkopf by Mrs. Roy Runnels and Mrs. Ed Kleinbrook.

About 100 relatives and friends honored Mrs. Lora Wentland on her birthday anniversary at a party at the Emil Magadan farm home Monday evening. Seventeen tables of schafkopf were played and prizes were won as follows: ladies, Mrs. D. D. Auvil, Mrs. Walter Rusch, Mrs. Robert Magadan; traveling prize, Mrs. Albert Klug; men, Elmer Finch, Harvey Gorges, Gus Kloehn, traveling prize, Alfred Steinberg.

The Tuesday club met with Mrs. Frank Schoenrock yesterday afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Frank Schoenrock, Sr., Mrs. Charles Schmalenberg, and Mrs. Oscar Norris. Prizes went to Mrs. John Zitske and Mrs. Henry Mumm. Mrs. Eldor Schoenrock will entertain in two weeks.

Mrs. Fred Noack was hostess to the Del Monte club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. John Eggert and Mrs. George Prignitz received prizes. In two weeks Mrs. Prignitz will entertain.

The Lutheran Social club was entertained by Mrs. Amelia Hoffman yesterday afternoon. Prizes went to Mrs. Will Liskow, Mrs. Fred Baerwald and Mrs. G. A. Konrad. The latter will be hostess June 14.

Methodist Men's Club To Meet Thursday Night

New London—The Men's club of the Methodist church will meet at the church parlors Thursday evening. A program is being arranged by the Rev. R. R. Holliday, pastor, and a lunch will be served.

Be A Safe Driver

20 Piano Students To Present Recital Program This Evening

New London—Twenty pupils of Mrs. D. N. Stacy will present a piano recital for parents and friends at the Stacy home at 7:30 this evening. The program will include specialties, novelties, solos, and four and six hand duets.

An entertainment feature will be the appearance of Velma Mae Behn and Carol Jane Lasch dressed in Dutch costumes and playing as a duet the "Dutch Dance." Arden Ann Polzin, also in costume down to the wooden shoes, will dance the number.

Legion Juniors To Play 2 Games

Will Meet Appleton, Oshkosh in Practice Tilts This Week

New London—New London's American Legion Junior baseball team will engage in two heavy practice games with Appleton and Oshkosh here the end of this week, according to R. V. Prah, athletic officer of the Norris-Spencer post.

Appleton will invade the local diamond for a game at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and Oshkosh will be met here at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. Appleton lost to Oshkosh 5 to 4 in a practice tilt at Oshkosh last week.

A squad of 20 New London aspirants will continue practice at 3:30 each afternoon this week. All the boys will be given an opportunity in the practice games after which a team will be selected by Coach E. M. Donner.

Team lists are not due at Legion baseball headquarters until June 15. At present little is known about New London's probable opponents. It appears there will be no more teams in the field than last year when the locals had to defeat only Wisconsin Rapids for the district championship.

If you can't be there in person — be there by Telephone

THE season for weddings and graduations is at hand.

When they are in other cities, it isn't always possible to attend. Next best is a telephone call to the bride or groom or graduate.

A telephone call is evidence of your personal interest. Your voice carries a sincere and friendly warmth.

PAY NO RENT

Summer Renting Time Is Here

How much does it cost you a week to have your property vacant? Here is the answer —

Rent per month	$20	$25	$30	$35	$40	$45	$50	$55
LOSS per day	66c	83c	$1	$1.16	$1.33	$1.50	$1.66	$1.83

Read those figures over — then ask yourself — "Is it worth while to save a few cents on a want ad and lose dollars on rent?"

Only those who pass will see your sign — and perhaps they are not looking for a place to rent.

On the other hand, today and every day thousands will be looking in the rental ads in the Post-Crescent for a place to live.

Distribute 400 Copies of Neenah School Yearbook

Annual Publication Dedicated to Twin City Paper Industry

Neenah — More than 400 copies of the Neenah High school yearbook, The Rocket, were distributed to students this afternoon, according to Principal John H. Holzman. "It is undoubtedly the best annual published by the school," he said.

Mr. Holzman said that the book, which is dedicated to the paper industry of the Twin Cities, was published entirely by the senior students with supervision by Al Poellinger and Marvin Olsen, Neenah High school teachers.

The 88-page book, a bound volume, contains more than 370 pictures, most of which were snapped by students. Mr. Holzman pointed out the reason for including so many pictures is because of their value in depicting student life.

The firms to which the annual is dedicated are Marathon Paper company, Wisconsin River Paper company, Edgewater Paper company, Strange Paper company, Whiting Paper company, Central Paper company, Gilbert Paper company, Bergstrom Paper company, Kimberly-Clark Corporation and Neenah Paper company.

Industrial Pictures

The first few pages of the book entirely includes pictures of the paper industry and a brief history. The second section is composed of individual pictures of teachers and a group picture of the board of education. In the third section are individual pictures of the graduates and brief write-ups about each senior. In the following sections are pictures and cutlines of the classes, organizations, athletics and student life. The various sections are interspersed with candid camera shots.

Throughout the book, the theme of the paper industry is carried out.

Betsy Dowling and Eugene Volke were the editors of the Rocket. The advertising staff was composed of Jack Meyer, Ruth Leonard, Paul Opitz, George Elwers, Marjorie Thompson, Russell Langner, Janet Drysdale, LaRaine Johnson, Kenneth Ginnow, Dudley Young and Daniel Bowman.

The feature writers were Naomi Roth, Dallas Campbell, Marian Kitchin and Ervin Nault, while Harold Boren was in charge of intramurals, Margaret Webster and Doris Angermeyer were in charge of organizations, while Vivian Marchhoff was typist. Ellis Rabin-deau was in charge of the sale of the annual, and senior specialties were written by Edna Holmbeck, Lillian Cowling and Lucille Cowling. Alvin Staffeld was sports editor while Charles Brien and Neil Rasmussen were picture editors.

Menasha Arrests Decrease in May

Larceny Tops List of 27 Violations During Last Month

Menasha — Menasha police made 27 arrests during May, a decrease of four from the total of 31 during April, according to the monthly report of Police Chief Alex Slomski, to the police and fire commission.

Larceny topped the causes of arrest with seven convictions on that charge during the month.

Five arrests including speeding charges and four were for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. During April disorderly conduct and drunken driving were the leading causes for arrest with five each. There was only one arrest for drunken driving during May.

During May on vagrancy charges and for going through arterial stop signs. Assault and battery charges resulted in two convictions while there was one arrest each for disorderly conduct and reckless driving.

Name 13 Students Of St. Mary High To Honor Society

Nine Seniors. Four Juniors Chosen for Membership

Menasha—Thirteen students of St. Mary High school have been named to the National Honor society, according to the Rev. Joseph Becker, principal of the school. In the group of 13 are nine seniors and four juniors.

The seniors are Mello Pifer, Catherine Heenan, George Fellner, Mary Ann Thiel, Rita Laux, Mary Ellen Jacob, Marjorie Schmitzer, David Spaulding and Rose Pankratz. The juniors are Anthony Will, James Eckrick, Mary Mader and Marjorie Stilt.

The seniors represent 15 per cent of the class of 66 which was graduated Sunday evening while the four juniors represent five per cent of the class of 76. Induction ceremonies for the students will take place at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the school.

Selection to the National Honor society is made on the basis of scholastic standing, leadership, service and character of the students. The hope of the national organization is to raise the plane of secondary schools to a higher level. Scholastic ability alone is not enough to assure election to the organization.

Balcony Team Beats Krueger Hardwares

Neenah—The Balcony team defeated the Krueger Hardwares, 6 to 5, and the Lakeviews won from the Legions, 12 to 10, in the two games in the Senior softball league Tuesday evening. The former game was played at the Green and the latter at Washington park.

The Kruegers will meet the Legions at the Green and the Balconys will play the Neenah Hardwares at Washington park next Tuesday evening.

City softball league games tonight will be a tilt between the Lakeviews and Merchants at the Green, a game between the Bergstroms and Draheims at the high school and a contest between the Commercial Inns and Shell Oils at Washington park.

Summer Activities Cause Decrease in Library Circulation

Menasha—With the continued influence of summer circulation of books at Eliza D. Smith public library has continued to drop, according to the monthly report of Miss Daisy Trilling, librarian. Circulation during May totaled 8,372 books while the month before the circulation was 10,182 and during March it was 12,413.

Attendance at the library during the month was estimated at 1,606, including 124 students. Ninety-nine students were assisted in the reference department.

Books were loaned to 299 rural patrons and to 22 teachers. During the month 37 new readers were enrolled. Eighty-nine new books were placed on the library shelves and 503 books were mended. Fines amounted to $14.89.

Neenah Scout Troop to Sponsor Benefit Movie

Neenah—Boy scout troop No. 45, sponsored by St. Margaret Mary church, Neenah, will sponsor a benefit movie, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," from Friday through next Tuesday at the Embassy theater, according to Jack Shinnors, scoutmaster. The members of the troop are selling tickets to earn money for the summer camp at Gardner Dam.

The troop made plans for a hike Sunday in preparation for the camporee program at the meeting last night. The troop also is planning a fathers and sons baseball game. The game probably will be played in two weeks, following the camporee.

Menasha Youth Will Graduate From Stout

Menasha—William Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Johnson, 354 Third street, will be graduated with the degree of bachelor of science this week from the school of industrial education of Stout Institute, Menomonee, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left this morning to attend the graduation ceremonies.

William Johnson completed three years of his training at Oshkosh State Teachers college before transferring to Stout Institute. A graduate of the Menasha High school class of 1934, Mr. Johnson is one of the few Menasha students who has majored in industrial education.

Denies Application of Man to Enter New Plea

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—Judge S. J. Luchsinger denied the application of Roy Gilbert, 231 Fourth street, Neenah, to change his plea from guilty to not guilty on a charge of improper conduct in an offense against a 9-year-old girl in municipal court yesterday afternoon. Judge Luchsinger said an affidavit submitted by Gilbert proved of little value in the case. Gilbert, who was arrested May 25, is to be sentenced Thursday.

SPEEDER FINED $5

Menasha—Henry Hartzheim, 25, route 1, Menasha, was fined $5 and costs when arraigned in justice court before Justice of the Peace Ray J. Fink last night on a charge of speeding on Seventh street. Hartzheim was arrested by Menasha police Saturday night.

DR. SEILER TO TALK

Neenah—Dr. Truman J. Seiler, Kiwanis lieutenant-governor, will talk at the meeting of the board of directors of the Neenah Kiwanis club Friday noon at the Valley Inn.

FORBIDDEN TO TALK

Countess Vera Puffer von Habenhausen, platinum blonde fiancée of Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed Austrian chancellor, who was reported planning to travel northward from Vienna after the captive former chancellor had been taken "somewhere north" by Nazis. The countess refused to discuss her plans with the explanation she was not permitted to talk. She supervised removal of furniture from Schuschnigg's estate.

Committee Selects Old Rose as Color For Graduating Class

Neenah—A senior class committee at a meeting today selected old rose as the graduating class' color and silver sweet pea as the class flower. Principal H. Holzman reported today.

The committee was composed of Margaret Klanner, chairman, Eleanor Meyer, Gladys Clapper, Dorothy Hochholz and Jeanette Adler. Plans are being completed and will be announced this week for the commencement exercises. Commencement exercises will be Wednesday night, June 8, and baccalaureate will be Sunday night, June 5, in the high school auditorium.

Dean J. Clark Graham of Ripon college will be commencement speaker and the Rev. Samuel Roth, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church will be baccalaureate speaker. The Rev. W. R. Courtenay will give the invocation and benediction at the baccalaureate. The senior banquet will be Monday evening, June 6.

9,500 Books Loaned At Neenah Library During Last Month

Neenah—There were 9,513 books circulated at the Neenah Public Library during May, 5,589 of which were taken out by adults and 3,924 by children, Miss Mary Hart, librarian, reported today.

Miss Hart reported that 1,972 books were dispensed at school stations and 347 at the branch library. Fifty-one teachers also took out books. The rural circulation amounted to 232.

There were 1,479 readers recorded at the library and 549 books were repaired and 84 reference questions were answered.

There also was a gain in patrons. 48 new borrowers, 30 of which were adults and 18 children, being added to the list.

Senator Pepper to Speak At Rally in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—United States Senator Claude Pepper of Florida will be the chief speaker at the state Democrats' dinner-rally at the Pfister hotel here Saturday. The Democratic advisory committee said today.

Yesterday the committee announced Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana would be the principal speaker. Mrs. George N. Givan, managing director of the advisory committee, explained today that it was not believed possible at first for Senator Pepper to be present Saturday, and that therefore Senator Minton was secured. The acceptance of the Florida senator later yesterday occasioned the change in plans, she said.

Beloit College to Honor Sen. Burke of Nebraska

Beloit—United States Senator Edward R. Burke of Nebraska will be granted an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Beloit college at the ninety-first annual commencement exercises June 13, President Irving Maurer announced today.

His daughter, Barbara, received a bachelor's degree from Beloit college two years ago.

Congress Cause Of Waning Hopes Of Business Men

tives Spreads Discouragement, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Discouragement among the business men of the country in the last few days has been growing rather than diminishing. The immediate cause of the drop in the curve of hope is the attitude of congress.

For a while, when the reorganization bill was beaten and there seemed to be a majority in both houses against confiscation of private property and incentive, business began to feel a kind of confidence from which it was thought an upturn in the economic world might be derived.

Then came the Florida primaries and the revival of the wage and hour bill, as well as hints of a revival of the bill to reorganize government departments and thus increase Mr. Roosevelt's powers. As congress seemed to be capitulating to the president, the hopes of business men for a possible improvement in business this summer of this autumn began coincidentally to drop also.

Today there are few business men who can see daylight ahead. The talk in New York and other business centers is for the most part pessimistic. More and more business men are thinking in terms of 1933 as a possible period of change for the better rather than 1938.

They are looking forward to the November congressional election to furnish the real key to the future of private enterprise in America. Taken As Setback

In this connection, it is most unfortunate that the members of congress as well as the business world interpreted the Florida primaries as a setback. For if Mr. Roosevelt were not powerful enough to dominate the selections of candidates within the Democratic party, then it would indeed be occasion for great surprise. The Florida result stimulated by Townsend clubs and by New Deal spending, is what might be expected within the Democratic party. The important thing to watch is not the primaries, but the final contests in November. Attention might well be fixed not on the solid south, but on the north, where the full effect of 10,000,000 or more unemployed and a business situation gradually growing worse and worse is likely to be reflected in the mood of the voters.

Many observers forget that Franklin Roosevelt, although governor of New York, was not widely known in 1932, relatively speaking, either as a personality or as a creator of national policies. Indeed, the platform of 1932 on which he ran was very conservative, so much so that many Republicans would accept it today as a Republican platform with hardly the change of more than a sentence or two. Yet in 1932, Mr. Roosevelt won by 7,000,000 votes, the result being due largely to dissatisfaction with Mr. Hoover's administration, or at least to the discontent aroused by the widespread unemployment.

Spending At Height

If therefore, the American people vote against the party in power when there is much unemployment, it may well be asked whether the New Deal is not in for a serious time in the autumn elections. With New Deal spending at its height, the administration may succeed in cutting down the opposition majority. Some Republicans are talking hopefully of a gain of 80 seats in the house of representatives, while some of the New Dealers, eager to protect themselves against the bad news, are saying already the Republicans should capture 120 seats. But the probabilities are that a gain of 25 Republicans would be a notable victory for the anti-New Deal voters, because in that same drift or tide, it will be found that perhaps 100 or more Democrats who voted against the reorganization bill and other New Deal measures will have been returned to office.

On the day after election, for instance, the newspaper tabulations will put a man like Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri in the Democratic column and he will be counted among the list of Democrats reelected, but his victory in Missouri will be due in no small part to the large number of Republicans who approved his independent attitude toward the New Deal. If many Democrats of the Bennett Clark school are reelected, and these are added to the Republican gains, then it will be possible to count the conservative majority in the house as greatly in excess of 25. Indeed, the effect of a victory by 25 Republicans would not be lost on some of the Democrats who are at present friendly to the New Deal but who would then feel that the 1940 election might require a record of voting, begun in the January, 1939, session, which leans less toward the radical and more toward the conservative side.

Signs of Revolt

So far as the business world is concerned, it has seen as yet no clear test of pro and anti-New Deal sentiment between the two major parties, though there are signs that, inside the Democratic party in Pennsylvania and inside the Democratic party in Oregon as well as even in Florida inside the Democratic party, the disaffected vote is considerably larger than has hitherto been imagined.

These signs of revolt mean unquestionably, in the states outside the solid south, a tendency to shift party lines. The New Deal has more cause for worry about the November elections than about any contest since 1932 and the business men have more to be encouraged about than they realize when the trends inside the Democratic party are carefully appraised.

Timid congressmen, moreover,

Legion Auxiliary Nets $587 in Poppy Day Sale at Neenah

Neenah—Neenah Auxiliary to the American Legion has realized $587.15 so far in its poppy day sale but final returns are not in. Mrs. Ray Vanderwalker, co-chairman announced this morning. Of that amount $150 goes to veterans who made the poppy and $25 to state child welfare and rehabilitation programs. The remainder, about $400 is used for welfare and donation projects by the local unit in the community.

Lois Mielke won first prize in the contest for selling the most poppies. Alice Clark was second and Angelina Tembeles, third. Mrs. Vanderwalker and Mrs. C. H. Christoph were co-chairmen for the sale.

Other committee members were Mrs. Edwin Abendschien, Mrs. F. O. Brunkhorst, Mrs. Roy Burr, Miss Mary Annemann, Mrs. Mary Brannan, Mrs. William Dowling, Mrs. Walter Foelker, Miss Nellie Hubbard, Mrs. Walter Hauke, Mrs. Arthur Kessler, Mrs. Max Kuchenbecker, Mrs. Alfred Mortenson, Mrs. Fred Martin, Mrs. William Oelke, Mrs. Einar Sorenson, Mrs. J. D. Schmelein, Mrs. Harvey Schwartz, Mrs. Arthur Ritger, Mrs. Henry Plucker, Mrs. L. D. Waters, Mrs. C. J. Walker, Mrs. Albert Witt and Mrs. H. Wiekert.

Additional Bus Service Ordered in Wauwatosa

Madison—The public service commission today ordered the Milwaukee Electric company to provide additional passenger bus service in Wauwatosa on North avenue from N. Sixth street to Menominee river drive.

The commission ordered extra busses to be placed in service at 30 minute intervals, effective June 30.

The commission withheld decision on Wauwatosa's request for new routes on State street and denied a third part of the city's application for better service.

"The evidence is not sufficient to indicate that an extension westward through Wauwatosa of the company's trackless trolley line furnishing service between Milwaukee and the east city limits of Wauwatosa is necessary or that a reasonable return could be expected on the investment required," the order said.

"For the present time the needs of patrons can be met reasonably well by motor bus service beyond the present terminal of the trackless trolley line."

Emanuel Named Head of Motor Permits Bureau

Madison—Appointment of A. J. Emanuel, 38, as head of the state motor permits department was made permanent in an order of the public service commission today. Emanuel, a native of Fall Creek, has been acting head of the department since April 4. He formerly was chief clerk.

The department collects about $1,500,000 a year in motor transportation taxes and permit fees. It is the largest department in the commission with 78 employees, including the inspection force of 34 which will be transferred to the state inspection and enforcement bureau July 1.

Duluth Man Faces Hearing In Slaying of Officer

La Crosse—Robert C. Pond, 26, Duluth, Minn., was ordered held without bond for preliminary hearing June 8 when he pleaded innocent in county court yesterday to being an accessory in the slaying last year of Police Officer Joseph Donndelinger.

Carl Wagener is sought on the same charge. Floyd R. Wagener, Carrollton, Ill., is serving a life term in state prison for the murder.

temporarily confused by the Florida result, need only to examine what has happened before in times of unemployment to realize that the administration backing will be considerable of a handicap once the primaries are out of the way. Ten million unemployed, convinced that the administration cannot bring business recovery because it refuses to cooperate with business, may prove big enough bloc to turn the tide far beyond the 25 opposition seats in November, but even 25 would represent enough encouragement for business to feel that the era of confiscation is on its way out and that same liberalism is on its way in to power.

Attorney General Defines Dance Hall In Informal Opinion

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Brown county authorities who have had difficulty in getting dance hall operators to obtain licenses as provided in the county dance ordinance today had an informal opinion from Attorney General Oeland S. Loomis on the question: "What is a dance hall?"

Quoting from an earlier opinion, Loomis pointed out, in substance, that a public dance or dance hall is one to which the public generally is admitted without discrimination and admission to which is not based upon personal selection or invitation.

Size of the dance hall makes little difference, Loomis advised Charles K. Bong, Brown county assistant district attorney. The question to determine in deciding whether or not a license is required is whether the dance is being conducted as the principal business of the establishment in question or whether it is so purely incidental and casual as to fall outside the definition of a public dance hall. For example, a rural tavern having a small room where music is played for entertainment of tavern patrons and some dancing is occasionally permitted, does not constitute a public dance requiring a license as long as the dancing is incidental to the tavern business, Loomis said.

Fix Rates for Water In Sanitary District

Madison—The public service commission today fixed rates for water service in the Lapham-Orchard sanitary district, town of Greenfield, Milwaukee county. The district will pay $666 a year for fire protection. Individual users will be charged 12 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet with a minimum payment of $1.25 a quarter. The commission will investigate the request of Muscoda village to establish a waterworks system and the application of Montfort village to construct a water reservoir.

OCTAGON HOUSE

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Unscrupulous Marina Lorne, whose husband's post official mural has aroused Quano- met, is murdered by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Pam Frye appeals to Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective telling him she found $50,000 worth of ambergris which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering the murder. Pam leaves Asey's house because an unknown person, who smokes Turkish tobacco, is trailing her to learn the whereabouts of the ambergris. Asey discovers that agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina in New York; wealthy Roddy Strutt smashed a new plant in the square; and gabby Nettie Hobbs swears Pam is the murderer.

Chapter 15
Nettie's Two Visitors
"You lie!" the woman said angrily.
"I lie? You mean, you lie!" Nettie embarked on a shrill tirade.
"So," Asey said softly. "So?"
He put down his paint cans and looked critically at the ell.
Its original brown had faded through the years to a particularly unpleasant shade of greyish-red, with which Asey was not prepared to cope. But whoever owned the building, Asey decided, should be glad to have anyone touch up those bare spots.
Before Nettie finished her speech, Asey was standing on an empty packing case just beyond the window, energetically painting the ell with his nice green paint.
"Are you quite through?" the woman asked rather wearily. "I should think you would be. Now, before you get second wind, let me sum things up. I've appealed to your family pride. After all, you're a relation of Pam's. I've appealed to your common decency. I've appealed to everything anyone can appeal to, and you're adamant. Now, I'm going to point out several items. In the first place, if you're actually in any position to view this murder--if you really were in, or near, or outside the garage last night, and if you didn't stop Pam from killing Marina--does it occur to you that you're an accessory after the fact?"
"How did I know she was going to?" I just followed her--"
"So you're following her now, are you?" the woman interrupted. "In the original version, you simply sat in Octagon House and peered through the window and saw her run toward Lorne's garage. Little item there, by the way. The only window from which you might possibly have seen in that direction, from the living room, is that awful thing of colored purple glass and no one ever saw through that. Did that occur to you, Nettie? Because the police are shortly going to have it pointed out to them."
"You're trying to shield a murderer!" Nettie yelled.
"That's what! I wouldn't wonder if you weren't hiding Pam Frye! And what if I am a cousin of hers? I'm only a fifth cousin!"
"Oyster Bay," Asey murmured, "versus Hyde Park."
"And besides," Nettie went on, "I have a higher duty. I have. It's my duty to expose a murderer, even if she is a relation! Some laws are higher than others. Blood may be thicker than water--"
"But not when you can pan gold out of the water? Isn't that it, Nettie? Oh, how you must have counted on marrying Aaron Frye!"
Whoever this woman was, Asey thought, she was playing Nettie like a banjo.

"What about you?" Nettie returned. "Didn't you expect to marry Jack Lorne, until Marina took him away from you? Didn't you want to paint that mural in the post office, Peggy Boone?"
Boone, Asey thought, Pam had said something about modeling for someone named Boone.
"You vindictive thing!"
"Of course I wanted to paint that mural, Nettie. So did several hundred other people. But you're wandering from the point again. The point is, you didn't see Pam Frye last night, because you didn't even look out of the window; or if you looked out of the regular windows, you couldn't possibly have seen the Lorne garage. Or if you looked out of the purple glass window, you just plain couldn't have seen. That's the point. You suspected nothing at the time, you suspected nothing when you left. By sheer chance you left your pocketbook--and it's the consensus that you never forgot your pocketbook before. You usually have it gripped tightly to your capacious bosom. And when you realized what you'd popped into, you saw your chance to take a whack at Pam, and then you realized the gold in them thar hills. All right, Nettie. But you've got your last nugget."
"What do you mean? Where are you going?" Nettie sounded more annoyed than alarmed. As Jennie Mayo had remarked that morning, there was nothing Nettie enjoyed more than a fight.
"I'm going, my little pickle line, to the cops. And to see some reporters I know. You actually don't know a single thing about this murder, and very shortly the world will think about this murder, and very shortly the world will know just what sort of filthy hoax you are. Whom the press makes, they can also break. I thought even the stupidest of fools had figured that out. And you, Nettie, are going to be broken. And I'm going to wield the first axe--"
"You vindictive thing, you!"
"Yes, vindictive is the word for Peggy," came the prompt retort. "I'm one of the most vicious and violently vindictive people I happen to know. And I happen also to cherish Pam Frye. And for two cents I'd slap out your teeth and jump heavily on them. Goodbye!"
"Goodbye yourself!" Nettie yelled. "And you wait till I tell the reporters what you've said and how you've threatened me! Threatened! Wait'll they hear that, and then see how much good your lie'll do to shield Pam Frye!"
When Peggy Boone came out to the yard, Asey was innocently stirring paint in the far corner.
"So she's having the store beautifully, is she?" Peggy Boone's cheeks were flaming and her eyes shot sparks. "Beautiful by the application of a coat of paint. That's the way the News will report it this week. 'Our esteemed citizen, Nettie Hobbs, alias the Pickle Lane Lady, is beautifying her store by the application of a coat of paint! It sickens me!'"
"Wa-el," Asey rather overdid his Cape drawl. "It needs paint."
"So does my house, and so, probably, does yours. But we don't yap packs of lies to the newspapers to get it done!"
"You seem sort of sore."
"Sore? Do you think you ever saw a mad woman? Well, the maddest woman you ever knew was a cooing dove compared to me. I could kill that stinker!"
Asey felt for his pipe, but that was home in his other coat, along with his driving license. Feeling like a banjo.

Fire Protection Setup Operating

Kaukauna Houses, Mans Fire Truck for Town Of Buchanan

Kaukauna — A fire protection agreement for a period of five years between the city of Kaukauna and the town of Buchanan went into effect today. The agreement was presented to the council for sanction at the May 17 meeting by the fire and police commission. The commission met previously with Buchanan representatives and arranged the contract.

Buchanan's truck will be kept in the Kaukauna fire house, and the town will pay Kaukauna $35 for each fire answered and $20 for each false alarm. Buchanan will pay for gas, oil, repairs, insurance and workmen's compensation insurance.

In case of fire breaking out in both places at once Kaukauna would attend to its fire first and see that the Buchanan truck was sent to Buchanan.

If any clauses of the agreement are found not to be working to the advantage of both parties additions or amendments will be made. Al Hartzheim, chairman of the council fire and police committee, has said.

W. Henry Cooke Is Professor of History At Claremont College

Kaukauna — W. Henry Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Cooke of this city, has been appointed professor of history and director of studies in Claremont college, Calif., according to word received here by his parents yesterday. Claremont college includes Pomona and Scripps colleges.

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York —(P)—The stock market greeted June in a hopeful mood today, reversing its recent stride for a leisurely rally.

Buying converged mainly on leading industrials and lifted many of them fractions to around 3 points, restoring some of the ground lost on the dragging decline in the last two weeks of May. Transactions, while a little more active on the rally, totaled only about 550,000 shares.

Rails and utilities, at a slower gain, joined industrials on the recovery. Heading the upturn were such issues as Du Pont, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott Copper, American Smelting, Douglas Aircraft, Santa Fe, Standard Oil of New Jersey, U. S. Rubber, Texas corporation, and Allis Chalmers.

Today's Market At A Glance

New York —(P)— Stocks higher; industrials lead rally. Bonds steady; rail issues reverse downward. Curb improved; utilities and metals favored. Foreign exchange quiet; sterling in supply. Cotton strong; wall street and trade buying. Sugar easier; hedge selling. Coffee narrow; European support. Chicago: Wheat easy; Argentina under-selling abroad. Corn higher; unfavorable weather conditions. Cattle steady. Hogs 10-20 lower.

Gains Are Registered On N. Y. Bond Market

New York —(P)—The bond market developed a firmer footing in late trading today after moving cautiously throughout the forenoon. Gains of fractions to 2 or more points were fairly numerous among rail and communication issues.

Third Avenue 5s bounded up 7 points under fairly brisk demand. Nickel Plate 6s of the 1930s were around 4 1/2 and the 4 1/2s of 1935 were more than 11 up. The foreign dollar list was generally steady.

CHICAGO POTATOES — Potatoes 41, on track 317, total U. S. shipments 627; new stock firm slightly stronger; moderate demand light; bliss triumphs U. S. No. 1, Louisiana best 1.85-90; showing heated 1.75; Arkansas best 1.90; Alabama 1.75-2.15; best mostly around 1.90; U. S. No. 1, size B, 1.00 showing heated and decay 80-90; Mississippi 1.85-90; U. S. No. 1, size B, 1.00; California 2.15; California White Rose U. S. No. 1, 1.80-2.10, mostly 2.00; old stock firm, supplies moderate demand light; sacked per cwt. Idaho russet, Burbank U. S. Hog Quotations Slip on Market

Lambs Strengthen, Steers Steady in Chicago Livestock Trade

Chicago —(P)—(USDA) — Hogs slipped lower again today when supplies were fairly liberal and shipping demand narrow. Fed steers and yearlings got dependable action from outsiders and prices were steady but the quality of the general run showed some improvement. Lambs strengthened.

Hogs 10,000 including direct; slow, 10-20 lower than Tuesday's average; top 8.75; good and choice 160-250 lbs 8.50-70; 200-250 lbs 8.40-55; 300-350 lbs 8.25-40; good medium-weight and heavy packing sows 7.50-75; smooth butcher kinds 7.85-8.00.

Cattle 10,000; calves 1,200; fed steers 10,000; yearlings fairly active; order buyers and shippers steady; condition and quality better than Tuesday; early top 10.50; some steers held 9.50; heifers steady; best early 9.50; cows fully steady; supply very small; most cutter grade cows 4.75-5.75; good and choice beef cows 7.00-75; weighty sausage bulls fairly active; steady; light kinds weak; most weighty sausage bulls 6.75-90; vealers 25-30; lower; practical top 9.50.

Sheep 5,000 including 1,400 direct; fat lambs and springers only moderately active; early sales strong to a shade higher; good to choice clipped lambs upward to 7.25 and 7.35 rather freely; one small lot strictly choice 7.50; one double Texas spring lambs 9.50 straight; few out-standing natives held above 9.35; sheep strong; native ewes 3.00-25; choice held around 3.50.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

South St. Paul —(P)—(USDA) — Cattle 3,000; slaughter steers about steady; fed kinds 8.00-9.25; some stock steady to strong; choice heifers up to 9.10; beef cows 5.75-6.50; low cutters and cutters 4.25-5.50 and more; bulls steady; sausage bulls up to 6.40; stockers steady. Calves 3,000; vealers unchanged; good and choice 7.50-9.00.

Hogs 4,000; 402 direct; unevenly steady to 20 lower; weights under 200 lbs and light sows off least; top 8.50 springing for 140-160 lbs; good and choice 140-250 lbs 8.10-40; 250-300 lbs 7.80-15; 300-400 lbs 7.50-30; good sows 7.25-65; good state 6.75-7.50; pigs scarce, quotable 8.50-9.50.

Sheep 1,000; small supply; best clipped lambs held above 7.25; few choice spring lambs Tuesday 9.00; bulk shorn ewes 3.00 down.

MILWAUKEE LIVESTOCK

Wheat Quotations In Backward Move On Chicago Market

Selling by Houses With Eastern Connections Is Late Feature

Chicago —(P)—Wheat turned downward more than a cent a bushel late today, and Chicago December contracts reached a season low price record, 70 1/2 cents.

Selling by houses with eastern connections was a late feature, together with reports Argentine wheat was underselling the United States abroad. Rye also touched fresh bottom quotations for the season, influenced by increased estimates of 1938 domestic rye production.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to 1/2 lower compared with yesterday's finish, July 68 1/2, Sept. 69 1/2, corn 1 1/2 cent up, July 55 1/2, Sept. 56 1/2, and oats unchanged to 1/4 up.

Duffy Plans Extensive Speaking Tour in State

Washington —(P)—Senator Duffy (D-Wis.), a candidate for renomination, returned today from a week-end speaking trip to his home state. He planned to fly to Oconto tomorrow for a speech Friday.

Duffy will address the graduating class at Georgetown visitation center tomorrow and depart immediately afterward. His daughter is a member of the class.

After addressing members of a milk pool at Oconto Duffy will go to Milwaukee where he and Senator Pepper (D-Ill.) will speak Saturday.

At Phillips, Wis., Sunday, he will address an American Legion meeting. Pepper was renominated in Florida after a campaign in which he ran as an administration supporter.

Duffy plans to fly back to Washington.

Board Ignores Ballot In Favor of Principal

Grantsburg —(P)—The Grantsburg school board refused yesterday to budge in its decision not to rehire High School Principal E. J. Adams, despite a taxpayers' informal referendum Saturday which overruled the board's action, 160-156.

D. O. Olson, school board clerk, said yesterday "the school board still maintains the same attitude toward Mr. Adams' contract," and that A. R. Page of the department of public instruction, Madison, had advised the board to stand on its decision.

A week ago all but eight of the 24 students struck for three days seeking rehiring of Adams, principal 17 years. The school term ended last Friday.

Adams' contract ends June 15.

THIS SPELLS HAPPINESS

Milk Pool Opens Confab at Oconto

Oshkosh Attorney Voices Plea Against 'Internal Dissension'

Oconto, Wis. —(P)—The annual convention of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool and its women's auxiliary opened here today with 600 delegates in attendance. H. H. Jack, Hortonville, president, opened the meeting.

George Busch, Dodge county; Walter Sims, Oshkosh; and Leo Kulgen, Belgium, were elected convention co-chairmen. H. F. Dries, Oshkosh, was named convention secretary.

An appeal to the convention to eliminate "internal dissension" in order to enable the pool to build a program for control of the price of cheese in the market was made by Frank E. Keefe, milk pool attorney, Oshkosh.

J. D. Semrad, Sauk county farmer and member of the milk pool legislative committee, urged the convention to take action favoring abolition of the granting of deficiency judgments in the foreclosure of farms and homes. He also favored a new state agricultural and authority measure.

Attorney General O. S. Loomis will address the convention tomorrow and United States Senator F. Ryan Duffy on Friday.

Include Cheese in Bill To Determine Standards

Washington —(P)—At the request of Representative Boileau (R-Wis.), the house yesterday approved an amendment to revised food and drug bill to give the secretary of agriculture the right to fix standards of quality for cheese.

As reported to the house by the commerce committee, the bill would have exempted cheese and a few other specified commodities from the secretary's authority to fix definitions and standards.

Boileau told the house, however, that because of the great variety of cheeses, the cheese industry and dairy areas wanted the secretary to have that authority.

Distribute Vacation Pay at Two Plants

Manitowoc —(P)—A. J. Vits, president of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, yesterday announced $54,000 in vacation pay would be distributed to more than 2,000 employees of the company in Manitowoc and Two Rivers Friday.

He said all who had been employed by the company continuously for a year last April 1 had been granted.

"Standup Strike" At Remington Rand Plants Is Ended

Claim Bombings Causing Chiang's Troops to Give Way Gradually

Elion, N. Y. —(P)—A "standup strike" by Remington Rand employees in protest against refusal of the United States Supreme court to review a national labor relations board order reinstating strikers ended quickly today in plants at Middletown, Conn., and Elion, Syracuse, and Elmira, N. Y.

Employees returned to their jobs after being told that the company would do "everything possible" to meet demands of the Remington Rand Employees association that the group be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for workers.

W. W. Wilk, assistant to the manager of the Elmira plant, said "peaceful cessation of work" ended there after 23 minutes. Harold Day, manager at Elion, said work a little thwarted, he sat down and considered.

No appeals to Nettie Hobbs were going to get anyone anywhere, he decided. Peggy Boone might point out the discrepancies in Nettie's story till the cows came home. But Nettie had her story in first. And Hanson would take as little notice of the window item as he had taken of Dr. Cummings' point about the left handedness.

He personally might go in and see what he could do, but Peggy Boone had deftly and thoroughly covered every angle he could think of. Unless he were to go in and wave guns at Nettie, which would give her the unsurpassed opportunity to call for the press, and display Asey Mayo in the very act of intimidating a star witness.

In brief, Asey thought it might be simpler to move Gibraltar than to sway Nettie Hobbs at that point. He picked up his brushes and his paint cans. But before he left, another visitor dropped in.

"Why, Mister Strutt!" Nettie said, nearly identifying her caller. "Mister Strutt! Were you hurt last night when your plane crashed?"

"Just banged a bit, that's all. The other fellow took the beating. He's got a broken leg and things. Look, you're all mixed up in this business of Marina, aren't you? Saw it happen, and such?"

"I was right on the scene," Nettie said. "Right on the scene. Do you want to read about it? Here are the papers, right here, and—"

"I've read 'em," Roddy Strutt said. "That's just it you know. You've been pretty decent about me, and I want to do the right thing. Always thought you were a good sort, and all. Look, will this be all right? More where it came from, if it isn't."

"Oh, oh!" Nettie squealed. "Ain't it enough?"

"Oh, but it's—why yes," Nettie's voice changed suddenly. Realizing no doubt, Asey thought, that there was more gold in the hills than she had ever dreamed of. "Why, yes, I guess so."

"If I can spare right now," Roddy said. "But you know me. I make things right. Just you keep up your story and keep me out of it, that's all. Well, so long."

"So long," Nettie said.

"Oh—if anyone gets curious about the check," Roddy hesitated, "just say it's for your pasture that I want for a landing field. I can give you cash—"

"This'll be all right," Nettie said. "Goodbye, Mr. Strutt."

A door banged.

"Well," he heard Nettie's dazed murmur. "Well, well. Keep you out of it? I should say I would!"

Asey nodded. He guessed so, too. Picking up the can of green paint, he mounted the packing box again. A little beautification, he felt, was a small price to pay for the enlightening details that were being waited out of that ell room.

What is Roddy's connection with the mystery? Continued tomorrow.

55 Odd Fellows At Convention Held at Seymour

Baccalaureate Services are Held for High School Senior Class

Seymour — Fifty-five members of the Odd Fellow lodges from Green Bay, Peshigo, Marinette, Oconto, DePere and Seymour were present at the convention of the twelfth district here Saturday. At the afternoon session a business meeting was held after which dinner was served by the members of the Rebekah lodge. The Rev. L. Knutzen gave the address of welcome at the evening session and T. S. Hanson of the Green Bay lodge gave the response after which a question box discussion in charge of Noble Grand Philip Engel was held.

The Rev. Peter Zey of St. John's Catholic church gave the address at the Seymour high school baccalaureate services in the gymnasium Sunday evening. The program opened with the processional by the graduates after which the audience sang the hymn "Holy, Holy, Holy." The Rev. H. A. Bernhardt gave the invocation and closed the service with the benediction. The high school glee club sang "Send Out Thy Light" and the girls quartet sang "My Task." "America" was sung by the audience before the close.

Memorial day was observed in Seymour with a parade led by the Seymour high school band followed by members of the Women's Relief corps, American Legion, its auxiliary, girl scouts, boy scouts, flower girls, and the school children. After the parade a program was presented in the school gymnasium with E. L. McBain as chairman and Frank Tubbs as chaplain.

Several selections were played by the high school band, two songs were sung by the high school mixed chorus, a play, "The First Memorial Day" by school children. The Rev. L. Knutzen gave the address of the day and the Rev. Mr. Bernhardt, the benediction. The members of the American Legion auxiliary conducted the services at the cemetery with salute to the dead by the American Legion firing squad and taps sounded by Don Feurig.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolk and daughter of Milwaukee spent the weekend with relatives in Seymour.

Miss Marian Engel of Milwaukee was a guest of Miss Rhoda Luedke from Saturday to Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Goodhand and family of Chicago and Miss Dorothy Leirich of Milwaukee visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leirich over the weekend.

Robert Wolk of Rhineland visited on Sunday at the home of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolk Schneider, Appleton, has announced.

Under the Marinette project, remodeling of schools, improvements to school grounds throughout the city will be undertaken, while Oconto's project will cover city-wide construction of storm drains for street drainage purposes.

It's Odd But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
New York—Northeast Land, which would be the last land before reaching the North Pole for planes flying from Europe to America, contains a cauldron of winds. In Brandy bay, one of its arbors, the winds blow both from north and west and southeast most of the time. They meet in the bay. The Oxford University expedition, which reports them in "Nature," did not find out where in particular the opposing winds went after colliding. Apparently they nullified each other.

This expedition upset a tradition that Northeast Land is extremely cold in winter, with continuous gales of 40 to 100 miles an hour. In an entire winter, the expedition recorded no temperatures under 26 below zero. It found a high of 32 in summer.

Northeast Land is beyond Spitzbergen in the direction of the North Pole. It is about the size of Wales. Its interior is covered with an ice cap shrouded in mist almost all summer.

But there were no violent gales and no serious reasons against establishing an emergency airplane base there.
